F-80s Hit Red Forces On Hilltop

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fire bombing F-80 Shooting Star jets blazed a path for United Nations troops to capture a hill on the central Korean front today, the Fifth Air Force reported.

The Eighth Army said action along the front was limited mostly to patrol clashes. Some of them were prolonged fights, including a four and a half hour battle in the no-man's-land east of the Kaesong cease-fire neutral zone.

The air force said the Shooting Stars got in on the front line action near Kumhwa, fallen eastern anchor of the old iron triangle, and dove at Reds on top of a hill for which UN ground forces were fighting.

"Our troops had been trying to take the hill all day," said First Lt. Charles R. Nozhe of City Heights, Calif. "After we finished our napalm (jellied gasoline fire bomb) runs on top of the hill, they began moving up under cover of our strafing fire.

"When we finished working over the area, the ground controller said our troops were on top of the hill."

Fights Reported

To the east of Kumhwa, the Eighth Army reported day-long fights between UN patrols in the area south of Red-held Kumsong and small Communist units. Yesterday allied troops advanced up to two miles along a seven-mile front in this sector, virtually unopposed.

Another day-long fight, starting at dawn and continuing into the afternoon, was reported north of Yanggu in the eastern sector.

Sharp engagements were reported between small forces on both extremes of the front—northwest of Kansong on the east coast and west of Korangpo in the west.

In the western engagement Allied patrols roaming the area between Korangpo and the neutral zone created around Kaesong for the cease-fire talks, ran into a Red company before dawn. The fight broke off at 9:30 a. m.

Cut Through Haze

Warplanes, which flew almost 900 sorties Thursday, had to cut through low overcast skies and haze Friday. But they kept up a round-the-clock attack, flying more than 100 sorties between sunset and sunrise.

The Fifth Air Force flew more than 224 sorties before 6 p. m. including strikes at roadways used by Reds to supply and reinforce their lines.

B-29 superforts flew in from Okinawa and Japan to hit Communist supply buildups in western Korea. Fourteen superforts blasted warehouses and supply dumps at Chinnampo, port city of the Red capital of Pyongyang. Bombs were aimed by radar.

Marine pilots blasted supply centers along the east coast as they observed the first anniversary of their appearance on the Korean front. In a year marine airmen have flown 34,000 sortiese.

UN air forces were strengthened with the arrival in Japan of the 116th Fighter-Bomber Wing, equipped with F-84 thunderjets. The wing is composed largely of National Guardsmen from Georgia, Florida and California.

Points Are Major Items At Kaesong

General Nam Il Admits Planes, Ships Are Big Factors in Smashing Ground Forces

Tells of Meeting

Nuckols Relates Manner in Which Issue Was Introduced

UN Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 3 (AP)—United Nations negotiators brought the weight of allied air and naval superiority to bear on deadlocked armistice negotiations at Kaesong today.

An authoritative source said the UN envoys feel these are major bargaining weapons in demanding strong, defendable ground positions north of the 38th Parallel.

When allied negotiators used this lever in Friday's two hour and 35 minute session, a UN spokesman said, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il grudgingly admitted that the superior United Nations air power had influenced Communist ground action.

However, the chief Red delegate did not weaken his demand for a cease-fire line along the 38th Parallel.

The sessions ended with the two delegations still unable to agree on where to create a buffer zone. They take up the same subject for the tenth time in Saturday's session, set for 11 a. m. (8 p. m. Friday, EST).

Nuckols Gives Story

The United Nations' unquestioned air and naval might was introduced into discussions at the start of Friday's sessions, said Air Force Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the allied briefing officer.

Vice Adm. C. Joy Turner told General Nam Il that a military armistice should maintain the approximate overall balance of military power existing when the armistice is signed.

This was the first announced reference in cease-fire talks to the guarantee allies have said they would demand that the Reds do not take advantage of an armistice to reinforce their ground troops, or run in now non-existent air and naval forces.

Joy went on, Nuckols said, to emphasize that ground forces alone do not constitute the complete balance of power. Naval and air power must be taken into consideration, too.

Under the authoritative, but non-official view, Joy was using emphasis on air and sea might to support the allied demand for an armistice along present battle lines, most of which are north of the 38th Parallel in defensible hill terrain.

Are Shelling Targets

Allied warships are shelling targets on both coasts of North Korea daily while UN war planes range freely over all North Korea. Withdrawal of these two arms of allied might from North Korea, under this authoritative view, should be sufficient compensation for the Reds to agree to allied ground forces remaining in the tactically favorable positions they have won in hard fighting.

How impressive such an argument might be with the Communist negotiators was indicated indirectly by General Nam during Friday's session. He said, in effect: "You insist on strong defensive positions north of the 38th Parallel, deep in our territory."

And he repeated the same statement 14 times—almost word for word.

Since the cease-fire talks started in Kaesong July 10, UN naval and air craft have done most of the shooting. Ground forces have not engaged in major offensive operations.

Allied warships shelled targets on both coasts Friday and UN planes flew nearly 900 sorties. Only three Red planes were sighted.

Admiral Joy, a UN communique said, also "emphasized that the United Nations command would not relinquish its present military defensive position to satisfy political desires to subdivide Korea."

McCarran Says Plot Aimed at All of Asia

Senator Says Move Exists, Will Show Way It Acts

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) said today that the hearings being conducted by his Internal Security Subcommittee are designed to bring to light "a Communist conspiracy to take all of Asia."

He told reporters that such a conspiracy not only has operated in the past but "still exists today."

Americans were used and still are being used, he said, to "soften up" the will of the people of this country to resist the spread of communism and to strengthen themselves militarily.

McCarran said the subcommittee's hearings, which are to be resumed next Tuesday, will show later "how this conspiracy is operating today."

Who the next witness will be was not disclosed immediately but McCarran said he expected to announce this shortly.

Tells of Recruits

At yesterday's hearing, Hede Massing testified that as a prewar Soviet espionage agent she recruited Noel Field and Lawrence Duggan into her "apparatus."

That was in 1933 and 1934 when both Field and Duggan were State Department officials. Field since has disappeared behind the Iron Curtain while Duggan plunged to his death from a New York office building in 1948.

The Vienna-born Mrs. Massing, former wife of Gerhardt Eisler, also testified that she and Alger Hiss, another former State Department official and a convicted perjurer, had competed for Field's services.

McCarran said at the hearing that he realized the names of some dead persons would be brought into the testimony and that he was reluctant to have this happen.

Must Present Facts

But he said that a Congressional Committee "must present every possible fact to shed light on present day conspiracy."

U. S. Department Clears O'Dwyer

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The State Department said today Ambassador William O'Dwyer transferred $1,000,000 from Mexico to New York as a transaction between the Mexican and U. S. Governments.

In a statement, it said the transfer was a regular financial transaction and in accordance with "accepted practices."

The statement, issued through the press office, added some published reports of recent days "have created the unfortunate impression that the transaction was extraordinary and even irregular."

"These reports have absolutely no basis in fact," it said.

Four Poles Land Plane in Sweden

They Tell of Wild Escape in Early Morning via Homemade Craft

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 3 (AP)—Four young Poles, one a woman, landed their bullet-riddled, makeshift plane in southern Sweden today and told of a dramatic escape from Red Poland amid gunfire.

They asked asylum, saying they were "fed up" with the Communist regime in their homeland.

Their exploit was less than 24 hours after 12 sailors of the Polish navy staged a Baltic mutiny aboard a minesweeper and chose refuge in Sweden.

The two incidents created speculation concerning a possible connection with the recent visit to Poland of Soviet Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, who warned in threatening terms against Titoist revolts.

The four refugees today, made a perfect landing, despite riddled landing gear, at Bulltofta Airport near Malmoe, and said they escaped after a gunfight with Polish military guards.

They told a thrilling story of zig-zagging at 10,000 feet through the Baltic clouds to shake off a pursuing military aircraft. Once, a hatch flew open and they almost fell into the sea.

Crept Up on Plane

They crept up on the stolen plane—a crazy craft put together from a Polish engine, wheels from a German Messerschmitt, an American carburetor and some Swiss parts—at 3 a. m. at an airport near Poznan.

Overpowering the two guards, they took off under the gunfire of other guards. The three men and a woman still had an old pistol when they landed but said they had dumped a submachinegun into the Baltic.

The four were whisked to a camp for political refugees in Swedish police cars.

The men told police they were all born in 1929. The woman said she was born in 1931. Police said the plane bore markings indicating it belonged to an aviation club at Poznan.

Yesterday 16 Polish mutineers overpowered their officers at pistol point aboard the Polish minesweeper Hedregfariczon and pulled into the port of Ystad in southern Sweden.

Twelve of the 16 came ashore and asked for Swedish asylum. The four others sailed back with their ship last night, deciding they

Owlett Sees Little Chance for Senator To Control Group

Duff, He Says, Will Not Be Able to Swing Delegation at '52 GOP Parley

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—G. Mason Owlett, Republican National Committeman for Pennsylvania said today he saw little chance for Sen. James H. Duff to control the state's delegation at the 1952 GOP national convention.

"The junior senator (Duff) from Pennsylvania will have pretty great difficulty in controlling the delegation," Owlett told a newsman.

Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and a chief aide to former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, also endorsed U. S. Sen. Edward Martin for re-election next year. Martin, also a Republican, has four years seniority over Duff in the Senate.

Will Get Backing

Gov. John S. Fine will likely receive the backing of his faction of Pennsylvania Republicans for the chairmanship of the 66-man state delegation to the 1952 convention at Chicago, Owlett said.

"The governor of the state is traditionally the chairman of the delegation and I'm for Governor Fine," he asserted.

Owlett, asked if he thought Duff would make a fight of it to retain leadership of the party, replied:

"That leadership is non-existent."

Owlett and Duff have been at odds since the inauguration of Duff as governor in 1947. The 1950 primary election saw an acrid battle between the two. Duff, who ran with Fine on a ticket opposing Grundy-Owlett candidates, soundly trounced the so-called "Old Guard" and generally was hailed as the leader of the party for the 1950 general election.

Will Play Role

The antagonism between Duff and Owlett will play an important role in determining if the ex-governor will be able to swing the state's convention delegates to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Duff is known to favor Eisenhower for the nomination.

Although Owlett said he and his faction are "entirely uncommitted" to any presidential candidate, he indicated that Harold E.

Lausche Has Both Parties Guessing as Parley Aftermath

Ohio Governor Asks HST to Run in 1952, He Says—Aim Is Big Query

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Political leaders, both Republican and Democrat, conceded today that President Truman and Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio had them guessing.

Lausche, who has a habit of puzzling his Democratic party colleagues, did it again at the White House yesterday by announcing that he had urged Mr. Truman to run in 1952.

The Ohio governor reported that the President smiled and thanked him.

Mr. Truman himself got off a political brow lifter earlier in the day.

He hinted at his weekly news conference that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's duties in Europe would not interfere if the general is interested in politics in 1952.

The President went on to say he believes Eisenhower, claimed by some in both major parties as their favorite candidate, will put duty to his country first.

Mention's General, Too

Lausche also brought up the name of Eisenhower, saying that the U. S. governors conference wanted the general to be principal speaker next month at its conference at Gatlinburg, Tenn.

He said Mr. Truman suggested that the governors contact the general directly. Lausche is chairman of the governors conference.

Both Democratic and Republican party leaders here saw a possibility that Governor Lausche was making an early personal bid for strong Democratic party support for next year.

Many expect him to oppose Republican Senator Bricker of Ohio.

They recalled that Lausche carefully avoided taking sides last year in the contest between Republican Senator Taft and Joe T. Ferguson, the Democratic senatorial candidate.

Some also noted that Lausche did not get aboard the Truman presidential train until the President visited Ohio as the 1948 candidate.

Bricker Is Silent

Bricker said he had no comment on Lausche's statement. He added that he and the governor are old friends.

Bricker has not announced his re-election bid, but it is expected.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), generally regarded as a backer of Senator Taft for the presidency in 1952, asked a reporter why President Truman was bringing up Eisenhower's name at weekly press conferences.

"I agree with Bernard Baruch that it would be a great disservice to General Eisenhower to put him into the political area," Brewster said.

Baruch, long-time adviser to presidents, made this comment in New York city after arriving home from a European trip during which he talked with General Eisenhower.

Brewster said he wondered if "Mr. Truman is trying to name

WSB Recommends More for Workers

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Board today unanimously recommended that cost of living wage increases be allowed for all workers.

Board policy up to now has been to allow them for workers who are under union contracts having "escalator" clauses. Such clauses are those providing for automatic increases when the government's cost-of-living index rises.

A new board regulation will be drawn up immediately if Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approves the proposal to permit cost of living increases for all workers.

Anglo Princess To Visit Trumans

Elizabeth and Philip Are to Be in Washington October 24

London, Aug. 3 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have accepted an invitation to visit President Truman in Washington Oct. 24-26.

An official announcement from Buckingham Palace said the 25-year old heir presumptive to the British throne and her husband will stay at Blair House, President Truman's residence while the White House is under reconstruction.

The trip to Washington will follow a visit to Canada. They will sail from England on Sept. 25 on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of France.

The last members of the royal family to visit the United States were King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. They went there as guests of President Roosevelt in 1939, also after a Canadian tour.

Esopus Taxpayers Protest Assessment Figures for Year

Eight Hundred Attend Meeting at Port Ewen —Hardship Is Claimed

Some 800 aroused taxpayers of the town of Esopus attended a meeting of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., last night at the town hall in Port Ewen in order to protest the new assessment figures for this year which have just been formulated.

John Grady of Rifton, president of the Taxpayers Association, presided at the meeting and brought to the attention of the assessors certain corrections that had been made and a number of inequities that exist on the roll.

The association at a session on January 18 petitioned the town board to abandon the new assessment plan and revert to the old assessment figures, advocating that the assessors follow the same plan used by assessors of the town of Ulster and over a period of two or three years correct inequalities.

J. Russell Thorns, state director of equalization and assessments, admitted to the association at a July 12 meeting that only 10 out of 932 townships of New York state have adopted the new plan and only the town of Esopus in Ulster county.

Hardship Claimed

The association claims the new plan works a hardship on districts that pay school taxes into other towns that have not adopted this plan.

Grady offered comparable figures in other towns to substantiate these allegations.

The Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., will be more than glad to cooperate with its town board when all other towns adopt the new plan and it becomes county and statewide and thereby assures taxpayers of the town of Esopus of a fair deal in equalization rates both from the

Waxey Gordon Faces Federal Dope Charge And Possible Life Term; 3 Others Held

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—An international dope racket charge lodged today against Waxey Gordon, the prohibition era beer baron whom racket-busting Thomas E. Dewey sent to prison as an income tax dodger in 1933.

The 63-year-old mobster, who has a police record dating back to 1905, was held with three other men in a total of $500,000 bail.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said if Gordon is tried and convicted in Federal Court in New York state he could be sent to prison for life as a fourth offender under state law.

Saypol said the four prisoners had pure heroin worth $180,000 when diluted and sold in the underworld retail market.

All four were charged with violation of the federal narcotics laws at an arraignment which lasted from 1:30 a. m. to 2:30 a. m. (EST).

Waxey Gordon — Born Irving Wexler—was named by Saypol as "the source from the west coast" of dope arriving here on ships from Europe and the Near East.

Gordon and his three co-defendants, all New Yorkers, were seized an Manhattan's east side last night by ten federal agents and city detectives.

The bail set by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald:

Gordon—$250,000; Samuel Kass, 39, who gace his occupation as "gambler," $100,000; Benjamin Katz, alias Benjamin Kassop, 35, an unemployed machinist, $100,000; and Arthur Repola, 23, an unemployed chauffeur, $50,000.

Saypol told the commissioner that Gordon received narcotics from the other three men after it arrived on ships.

Gordon had been operating in the dope racket for "several years," Saypol said.

The U. S. attorney did not make public any of the racketeer's alleged west coast dope dealings, but said he was implicated with other persons convicted on the west coast.

Saypol said the case had "interstate and international aspects." He said the dope arrived on "ships of foreign commerce."

The prosecutor said city police and federal narcotics agents had been working on the case for eight months, and he gave this description of the arrests:

Ten officers watched from doorways and parked automobiles, waiting for Gordon to keep a street-corner rendezvous with Katz and Kass. When they met, Kass handed a package of dope to Gordon. The agents and police then closed in. More dope was found in an auto. Repola was arrested later.

Saypol said he understood that Gordon still owes the Federal government $1,000,000 in income taxes.

Gordon drew a ten-year prison term in 1933 when Dewey—then Federal prosecutor here—got him convicted for income tax evasion. Gordon served seven years on the same charge that put the late Al Capone in prison.

Gordon signed a pauper's oath when he left Leavenworth in 1940. He owed a $40,000 fine and there was a $2,000,000 tax lien against him. He had other brushes with the law in recent years, including a one-year sentence for black market sugar operations in wartime 1943.

Gordon was listed as a resident of Brooklyn; Katz, 68-37 108th street, Forest Hills, Queens, and the other two Manhattan.

Southern Bolt From Party Seen by Democrat Governor

Philadelphia, Miss., Aug. 3 (AP)—Southern Democrats will bolt the national party again before they will accept President Truman to head the 1952 party ticket, predicts Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Wright, 1948 States Rights candidate for vice president, said the south is opposed to the President's program which he termed as centralized and socialistic.

He said he did not think the south would accept President Truman as a candidate for reelection under any conditions.

Wright made the comments last night in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., when he was asked to elaborate on a speech earlier in the day here.

Wright forecast another southern rebellion if the national party follows its 1948 course. He said the national administration had not soft-pedalled its civil rights proposals, but that a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans had blocked them.

He listed Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, all Democrats, as likely leaders.

Wright said, "The south is opposed to the police state the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) would set up."

He added that he was retiring to private life after his term expires next January, but as a private citizen he would "accept a small part (in such a southern rebellion) if called upon to do so."

Eight candidates are seeking to succeed him in next Tuesday's primary in this solidly Democratic state. All are avowed States Righters.

The 1948 southern revolt against the Fair Deal and civil rights resulted in the States Rights ticket headed by former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. It carried Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina.

Wright said he was not opposed

The two incidents created speculation concerning a possible connection with the recent visit to Poland of Soviet Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, who warned in threatening terms against Titoist revolts.

The four refugees today, made a perfect landing, despite riddled landing gear, at Bulltofta Airport near Malmoe, and said they escaped after a gunfight with Polish military guards.

They told a thrilling story of zig-zagging at 10,000 feet through the Baltic clouds to shake off a pursuing military aircraft. Once, a hatch flew open and they almost fell into the sea.

Crept Up on Plane

They crept up on the stolen plane—a crazy craft put together from a Polish engine, wheels from a German Messerschmitt, an American carburetor and some Swiss parts—at 3 a. m. at an airport near Poznan.

Overpowering the two guards, they took off under the gunfire of other guards. The three men and a woman still had an old pistol when they landed but said they had dumped a submachinegun into the Baltic.

The four were whisked to a camp for political refugees in Swedish police cars.

The men told police they were all born in 1929. The woman said she was born in 1931. Police said the plane bore markings indicating it belonged to an aviation club at Poznan.

Yesterday 16 Polish mutineers overpowered their officers at pistol point aboard the Polish minesweeper Hedregfariczon and pulled into the port of Ystad in southern Sweden.

Twelve of the 16 came ashore and asked for Swedish asylum. The four others sailed back with their ship last night, deciding they

Duff, He Says, Will Not Be Able to Swing Delegation at '52 GOP Parley

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—G. Mason Owlett, Republican National Committeman for Pennsylvania said today he saw little chance for Sen. James H. Duff to control the state's delegation at the 1952 GOP national convention.

"The junior senator (Duff) from Pennsylvania will have pretty great difficulty in controlling the delegation," Owlett told a newsman.

Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and a chief aide to former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, also endorsed U. S. Sen. Edward Martin for re-election next year. Martin, also a Republican, has four years seniority over Duff in the Senate.

Will Get Backing

Gov. John S. Fine will likely receive the backing of his faction of Pennsylvania Republicans for the chairmanship of the 66-man state delegation to the 1952 convention at Chicago, Owlett said.

"The governor of the state is traditionally the chairman of the delegation and I'm for Governor Fine," he asserted.

Owlett, asked if he thought Duff would make a fight of it to retain leadership of the party, replied:

"That leadership is non-existent."

Owlett and Duff have been at odds since the inauguration of Duff as governor in 1947. The 1950 primary election saw an acrid battle between the two. Duff, who ran with Fine on a ticket opposing Grundy-Owlett candidates, soundly trounced the so-called "Old Guard" and generally was hailed as the leader of the party for the 1950 general election.

Will Play Role

The antagonism between Duff and Owlett will play an important role in determining if the ex-governor will be able to swing the state's convention delegates to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Duff is known to favor Eisenhower for the nomination.

Although Owlett said he and his faction are "entirely uncommitted" to any presidential candidate, he indicated that Harold E.

Lausche Has Both Parties Guessing as Parley Aftermath

Ohio Governor Asks HST to Run in 1952, He Says—Aim Is Big Query

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Political leaders, both Republican and Democrat, conceded today that President Truman and Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio had them guessing.

Lausche, who has a habit of puzzling his Democratic party colleagues, did it again at the White House yesterday by announcing that he had urged Mr. Truman to run in 1952.

The Ohio governor reported that the President smiled and thanked him.

Mr. Truman himself got off a political brow lifter earlier in the day.

He hinted at his weekly news conference that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's duties in Europe would not interfere if the general is interested in politics in 1952.

The President went on to say he believes Eisenhower, claimed by some in both major parties as their favorite candidate, will put duty to his country first.

Mention's General, Too

Lausche also brought up the name of Eisenhower, saying that the U. S. governors conference wanted the general to be principal speaker next month at its conference at Gatlinburg, Tenn.

He said Mr. Truman suggested that the governors contact the general directly. Lausche is chairman of the governors conference.

Both Democratic and Republican party leaders here saw a possibility that Governor Lausche was making an early personal bid for strong Democratic party support for next year.

Many expect him to oppose Republican Senator Bricker of Ohio.

They recalled that Lausche carefully avoided taking sides last year in the contest between Republican Senator Taft and Joe T. Ferguson, the Democratic senatorial candidate.

Some also noted that Lausche did not get aboard the Truman presidential train until the President visited Ohio as the 1948 candidate.

Bricker Is Silent

Bricker said he had no comment on Lausche's statement. He added that he and the governor are old friends.

Bricker has not announced his re-election bid, but it is expected.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), generally regarded as a backer of Senator Taft for the presidency in 1952, asked a reporter why President Truman was bringing up Eisenhower's name at weekly press conferences.

"I agree with Bernard Baruch that it would be a great disservice to General Eisenhower to put him into the political area," Brewster said.

Baruch, long-time adviser to presidents, made this comment in New York city after arriving home from a European trip during which he talked with General Eisenhower.

Brewster said he wondered if "Mr. Truman is trying to name

WSB Recommends More for Workers

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today unanimously recommended that cost of living wage increases be allowed for all workers.

Board policy up to now has been to allow them for workers who are under union contracts having "escalator" clauses. Such clauses are those providing for automatic increases when the government's cost-of-living index rises.

A new board regulation will be drawn up immediately if Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approves the proposal to permit cost of living increases for all workers.

Anglo Princess To Visit Trumans

Elizabeth and Philip Are to Be in Washington October 24

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have accepted an invitation to visit President Truman in Washington Oct. 24-26.

An official announcement from Buckingham Palace said the 25-year old heir presumptive to the British throne and her husband will stay at Blair House, President Truman's residence while the White House is under reconstruction.

The trip to Washington will follow a visit to Canada. They will sail from England on Sept. 25 on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of France.

The last members of the royal family to visit the United States were King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. They went there as guests of President Roosevelt in 1939, also after a Canadian tour.

Esopus Taxpayers Protest Assessment Figures for Year

Eight Hundred Attend Meeting at Port Ewen —Hardship Is Claimed

Some 800 aroused taxpayers of the town of Esopus attended a meeting of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., last night at the town hall in Port Ewen in order to protest the new assessment figures for this year which have just been formulated.

John Grady of Rifton, president of the Taxpayers Association, presided at the meeting and brought to the attention of the assessors certain corrections that had been made and a number of inequities that exist on the roll.

The association at a session on January 18 petitioned the town board to abandon the new assessment plan and revert to the old assessment figures, advocating that the assessors follow the same plan used by assessors of the town of Ulster and over a period of two or three years correct inequalities.

J. Russell Thorns, state director of equalization and assessments, admitted to the association at a July 12 meeting that only 10 out of 932 townships of New York state have adopted the new plan and only the town of Esopus in Ulster county.

Hardship Claimed

The association claims the new plan works a hardship on districts that pay school taxes into other towns that have not adopted this plan.

Grady offered comparable figures in other towns to substantiate these allegations.

The Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., will be more than glad to cooperate with its town board when all other towns adopt the new plan and it becomes county and statewide and thereby assures taxpayers of the town of Esopus of a fair deal in equalization rates both from the

Waxey Gordon Faces Federal Dope Charge And Possible Life Term; 3 Others Held

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—An international dope racket charge lodged today against Waxey Gordon, the prohibition era beer baron whom racket-busting Thomas E. Dewey sent to prison as an income tax dodger in 1933.

The 63-year-old mobster, who has a police record dating back to 1905, was held with three other men in a total of $500,000 bail.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said if Gordon is tried and convicted in Federal Court in New York state he could be sent to prison for life as a fourth offender under state law.

Saypol said the four prisoners had pure heroin worth $180,000 when diluted and sold in the underworld retail market.

All four were charged with violation of the federal narcotics laws at an arraignment which lasted from 1:30 a. m. to 2:30 a. m. (EST).

Waxey Gordon — Born Irving Wexler—was named by Saypol as "the source from the west coast" of dope arriving here on ships from Europe and the Near East.

Gordon and his three co-defendants, all New Yorkers, were seized an Manhattan's east side last night by ten federal agents and city detectives.

The bail set by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald:

Gordon—$250,000; Samuel Kass, 39, who gace his occupation as "gambler," $100,000; Benjamin Katz, alias Benjamin Kassop, 35, an unemployed machinist, $100,000; and Arthur Repola, 23, an unemployed chauffeur, $50,000.

Saypol told the commissioner that Gordon received narcotics from the other three men after it arrived on ships.

Gordon had been operating in the dope racket for "several years," Saypol said.

The U. S. attorney did not make public any of the racketeer's alleged west coast dope dealings, but said he was implicated with other persons convicted on the west coast.

Saypol said the case had "interstate and international aspects." He said the dope arrived on "ships of foreign commerce."

The prosecutor said city police and federal narcotics agents had been working on the case for eight months, and he gave this description of the arrests:

Ten officers watched from doorways and parked automobiles, waiting for Gordon to keep a street-corner rendezvous with Katz and Kass. When they met, Kass handed a package of dope to Gordon. The agents and police then closed in. More dope was found in an auto. Repola was arrested later.

Saypol said he understood that Gordon still owes the Federal government $1,000,000 in income taxes.

Gordon drew a ten-year prison term in 1933 when Dewey—then Federal prosecutor here—got him convicted for income tax evasion. Gordon served seven years on the same charge that put the late Al Capone in prison.

Gordon signed a pauper's oath when he left Leavenworth in 1940. He owed a $40,000 fine and there was a $2,000,000 tax lien against him. He had other brushes with the law in recent years, including a one-year sentence for black market sugar operations in wartime 1943.

Gordon was listed as a resident of Brooklyn: Katz, 68-37 108th street, Forest Hills, Queens, and the other two Manhattan.

Southern Bolt From Party Seen by Democrat Governor

Philadelphia, Miss., Aug. 3 (AP)—Southern Democrats will bolt the national party again before they will accept President Truman to head the 1952 party ticket, predicts Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Wright, 1948 States Rights candidate for vice president, said the south is opposed to the President's program which he termed as centralized and socialistic.

He said he did not think the south would accept President Truman as a candidate for reelection under any conditions.

Wright made the comments last night in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., when he was asked to elaborate on a speech earlier in the day here.

Wright forecast another southern rebellion if the national party follows its 1948 course. He said the national administration had not soft-pedalled its civil rights proposals, but that a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans had blocked them.

He listed Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, all Democrats, as likely leaders.

Wright said, "The south is opposed to the police state the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) would set up."

He added that he was retiring to private life after his term expires next January, but as a private citizen he would "accept a small part (in such a southern rebellion) if called upon to do so."

Eight candidates are seeking to succeed him in next Tuesday's primary in this solidly Democratic state. All are avowed States Righters.

The 1948 southern revolt against the Fair Deal and civil rights resulted in the States Rights ticket headed by former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. It carried Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina.

Wright said he was not opposed

Cancer Discussed At Rotary Meeting

Speaking on the subject of cancer at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting this week at the Hotel Stuyvesant, Dr. Habeeb Maroon stressed the importance of early diagnosis and treatment in the control of the disease.

The local surgeon asserted that there are certain warning signals, recognizable by physicians, which when discovered in time and treated prevent the spread of the disease.

Modern advances in surgery and the use of X-ray, radium and chemicals together with continued research are bringing results today heretofore deemed impossible, he said.

Informally the doctor discussed the disease and its affects on certain races and in varying climates, groups in different age brackets and both sexes. He answered questions relating to cancer following the talk.

The speaker was introduced by Joseph Kramer, program chairman.

Pleven Accepts Bid To Try for Cabinet

Paris, Aug. 3 (AP)—Former Premier Rene Pleven, a member of the small union of Democratic and Socialist resistance (UDSR) party, today accepted an invitation to try to form a new French cabinet.

Pleven was called by President Vincent Auriol to the task after Socialist Guy Mollet had declined. Party leaders have been trying for 25 days to form a government to replace that of Henri Queuille. Pleven's party is slightly right of center.

Mollet was the seventh man since July 10 to either refuse to try to form a cabinet or fail to get parlimentary confirmation as premier.

One of the seven was former Finance Minister Maurice Petsche who tried twice. Early today Petsche was refused confirmation by the National Assembly, failing to get the 314 votes required.

Zemek Is Acquitted

Keene, N. H., Aug. 3 (AP)—Elliott Zemek, 20, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was acquitted of a manslaughter charge today in the canoe-tipping drowning of Melvin H. Tiger, 21, New York University student of Flushing, N. Y., on July 26. Municipal Judge Arthur Olson found probable negligence had not been proved. Zemek testified he upset the canoe in which he and Tiger were paddling on Lake Spofford but that they had agreed to do it before taking out the craft. Zemek said he knew Tiger could not swim very well but thought he was in shallower water when he overturned the canoe.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The army today announced the discharge of 90 U. S. Military Academy cadets for violating the "code of conduct."

The army did not immediately disclose the nature of the violations.

The official announcement said those ousted were cadets who had been prominent in various activities, including "varsity football."

Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, academy superintendent, said in a statement from West Point that the "infractions consisted of receiving improper outside assistance in academic work."

Irving added:

"In accordance with the accepted code of honor, a cadet is not permitted to seek or accept improper assistance in any of the tests presented to him in class."

The army said the names of the discharged cadets will not be released "so that no undue criticism of the individuals concerned will result."

The Military Academy has an enrollment of about 2,400. Most cadets are appointed to it upon congressional recommendations. They must, however, pass examinations and meet rigid physical and mental qualifications.

The dismissal action followed investigations and recommendations made by two groups, one composed of West Point officers and the other by the group headed by Justice Hand.

Man Is Acquitted

Winton, N. C., Aug. 3 (AP)—An all-male jury yesterday acquitted a new York white man of a charge of having carnal knowledge of a 15-year-old Negro girl but the verdict drew sharp criticism from a Superior Court judge. Judge Henry A. Grady of New Bern listened to the verdict in favor of Frank Newsome and then immediately ordered Newsome rearrested on charges of rape and perjury. The 45-year-old Mamaroneck, N. Y., delicatessen operator was returned to jail without privilege of bond to await Hertford county grand jury action in October.

Sixth Warning Phony

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Another anonymous bomb warning—the sixth this week—proved to be a phony. The latest telephoned threat came yesterday, when a voice, apparently feminine, told police that a bomb had been put in the municipal building on lower Manhattan. An hour-long search of the building and vicinity turned up nothing. The other five warnings—two at Idlewild Airport, two at a Long Island Railroad station in Brooklyn, and one at LaGuardia Field — also were labeled false.

Church, told a reporter by telephone that the ceremony had been postponed because of the publicity she and Watson received.

Quarrel Leads to Death

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A man and woman, battling in their fourth floor apartment last night, tumbled out of an open window into the street. The woman died soon after striking the sidewalk and the man was in critical condition today. The cause of the argument in the Harlem flat was not learned.

May Ask Legislation

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York State Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, in a stormy battle over color lines, may ask today for state legislation barring discrimination in fraternal organizations. It was drafted by Nicholas Atlas of New York city, chairman of the group's civil rights committee, and 12 other Pythians.

Bill Is Approved

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The House Banking Committee has approved a $1,700,000,000 bill to increase housing in key defense areas. Most of the amount—$1,500,000,000—would be in the form of authorized mortgage insurance and would not require any appropriation of government funds. Only $200,000,000 would be in the form of outright grants and loans. The bill, approved yesterday, increases a Senate-approved housing aid measure by $65,000,000.

Was Very Big Mistake

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — Jay Biesser, 18-year-old Rockville, Md., high school student, asked the government for a tax refund of $21.88. He got a government check for $508,666.26! Calling yesterday to find out what it was all about, Diesser was told it was all a big mistake. A Treasury Department spokesman said a check writing machine operator probably punched the serial number instead of the correct amount.

Firemen Are Called

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Failure of an early attempt to advance today left the stock market in a highly mixed condition.

Prices were strung out over a range of a little better than a dollar a share either way in the more active areas.

Major divisions in the unchanged to lower category were steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, and radio-television.

Oils were unchanged to slightly higher despite some excellent earnings reports and dividend actions.

Locks Family Out, Pays $15 on Assault Charge

A Phoenicia man was arrested late Thursday night after his wife made her way in her bare feet to the home of Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police and claimed that she and her three children had been chased from their home and locked out, Cpl. Dunn reported.

Mrs. Ella Ashley was taken to Justice of the Peace Raymond Smith of Phoenicia, from whom she obtained a warrant for her husband's arrest on an assault, third degree, charge. The husband, Claude Ashley, was then taken before Justice Smith, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Reuter Assails American Order

Berlin, Aug. 3 (AP) — Mayor Ernst Reuter today assailed as "one of the worst things that has happened in Berlin" an American order that he instruct a Berlin court to reverse its verdict against an American-Soviet agent accused of having delivered Germans into Russian captivity.

Reuter told the City Parliament yesterday he had defied the order from U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy on constitutional grounds. He said he had no power to intervene with an independent court and that the court itself must decide if it would obey.

This morning the mayor called a news conference for foreign correspondents to add his personal comments on the case, which has damaged German-American relations in this outpost city.

The agent, Hans Kemritz, worked for the Russians and Americans here in the early years of the occupation. A Berlin court, in defiance of American directives, has assessed heavy monetary damages against Kemritz in favor of a German widow who charged the agent had lured her husband to arrest and eventual death in a Soviet prison.

Mrs. Massing was a witness at the second trial of Hiss, who was convicted of having lied in denying that he gave State Department documents to a pre-war Soviet spy courier.

She testified that Duggan, at the time she recruited him, was connected with the State Department's Latin American division and Field, she believed, was employed by the department's western European division.

She said that Field consented to furnish "documents and materials" while Duggan agreed only to transmit verbal reports. In answer to a question, Mrs. Massing testified that neither Field nor Duggan had any doubt she was a Communist.

line along the present front, which follows terrain that can be defended.

Joy closed Friday's session, the communique said, by posing "several searching questions in an effort to establish the general attitude of the Communist delegation toward a purely military armistice and the resultant cease-fire.

Red replies were not disclosed.

The communique said North Korean Lieut. Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate, "spoke for nearly two hours attempting to justify his previously expressed view that the military demarcation line should be fixed along a parallel of latitude rather than following significant terrain features which are militarily important to the security of the United Nations forces."

Owlett Sees Little

Stassen may be given first preference.

"We are very friendly to Mr. Stassen as an adopted son of Pennsylvania," said Owlett.

Stassen, former Minnesota governor, is now president of the University of Pennsylvania.

As another possible choice, Owlett intimated, "real consideration" must be given to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Although there have been reports of a break between Duff and Fine, since their primary and general election victories, both men have denied the reports.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Perhaps we should paste this thought in our hat as a constant reminder:

We are so blinded by the intense tempo of the present that we fail to see (or to plan for) the relentless pace of the future.

Undoubtedly, the chief cause of our failures to see ahead more clearly is the trait of thinking and guessing in terms of the immediate present—for the short run—instead of trying to throw our minds ahead into the longer future.

I am reminded to emphasize this common characteristic of most of us because of two books which recently I have been reading concurrently: "The Education of Henry Adams" (Houghton Mifflin & Co., 1918) and Memoirs of a Superfluous Man," by Albert J. Nock (Harper & Bros., 1943). Both Adams and Nock literally soaked themselves in history and in historical analogy, with the result they looked at the present and at the future with the experience of what the long-gone past had led to in its future. Nothing will bring home to you stronger the illusions of trying to gauge day-to-day events without regard to the past.

The point is that TRENDS are established when we least look for them (because we are engrossed in present problems). Later, when the results of the long trends become of intense current interest we have long since lost track of the causes. As Nock tells us, the nineteenth century bred what has occurred, and what is in store for us, in the twentieth.

Thus it is that well-saturated students of economic and social history often see clearly what is happening, but their comments and warnings go for naught because no one has the slightest conception of what they are talking about and believes they are merely crack pots who are behind the times.

So, during this hot weather when you need relaxation and some reading will rest you, go to your library and get these two books (if, that is, you are not familiar with them) and read them together.

You may be asking yourself what all this has to do with "contrary opinions," which is the subtitle of this column.

It seems to the Ruminator that it has everything to do with it.

First, people generally never think in terms of the long trends, but are only interested in today and tomorrow. Thus, they are near-sighted in their thinking.

Secondly, unless we recognize the TRENDS we can never hope to plan our futures. For example, Toynbee in his extraordinary essays on history, shows us clearly that the trend is toward greater intensity of social upheavals. The powerful tides that run toward the "left" commenced, many believe, a hundred years ago. If we review these trends of the past century and then check them with those of centuries going back to early Rome and Greece, we shall quickly see that there is little "new" in today's frantic sparring among nations.

For instance, right today we are caught in Russia's long-run strategy which completely enmeshes us in short-run confusion. All our efforts are desperately tied up in current affairs—controls, taxes, and similar momentary tribulations—while Russia sits back and smiles at our near-sightedness. The President's mid-year Economic Report is focussed on the "immediate" as usual.

We have not the remotest notion of where we are headed—because every move we make is predicted upon emergencies caused by the Machiavellian planning of the long-future Russians. The Kremlin pays no heed to today or to a shift in peace—so long as their policies remain fixed on the trend.

So it is that we shall continue to live in a shocking present until the time finally arrives when we assume the initiative and look ahead.

A Korean truce, therefore, will be merely a stop-gap in the long process—although we may hope for it in order to save further needless cost of lives. Even if one appeasement leads to another—when policies are established on short-run premise—what other recourse is there now?

Because we did not think ahead when the Korean conflict started, we got into something where we had no "out." Thus a stalemate with nothing gained, but with tragic losses in human lives and property.

Boom Is Underway

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 3 (AP)—The boom to re-elect Juan D. Peron as president of Argentina and make his wife, Eva vice-president was officially underway today. Although such a ticket has been widely predicted, it received new impetus last night when the General Federation of Labor (CGT) came out for both Peron and his wife. It was the first group with government connections to do so. Meanwhile, a strike of Argentine railway engineers and firemen opposed to the Peron regime entered its third day. Service on two main lines was slowed down but there was no indication of any serious affects nor that the walkout was spreading.

wanted no more of the mutiny and would face whatever fate awaited them in their homeland.

This was the second mutiny aboard a Communist ship in the Baltic in two weeks. Three Lithuanians locked up the other crew members of the Russian trawler Samsun July 19 and escaped to Sweden.

Law Is Adopted

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—Communist Albania announced today it has adopted a law cutting off the Roman Catholic Church in that country from all relations with The Vatican. A Tirana radio broadcast said that under the new law the church in Albania will be subsidized by the government. It will be permitted to follow "the established world Catholic code, so long as this "does not conflict with the laws of the Albanian people's republic, public order and good customs."

Cancer Discussed At Rotary Meeting

Speaking on the subject of cancer at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting this week at the Hotel Stuyvesant, Dr. Habeeb Maroon stressed the importance of early diagnosis and treatment in the control of the disease.

The local surgeon asserted that there are certain warning signals, recognizable by physicians, which when discovered in time and treated prevent the spread of the disease.

Modern advances in surgery and the use of X-ray, radium and chemicals together with continued research are bringing results today heretofore deemed impossible, he said.

Informally the doctor discussed the disease and its affects on certain races and in varying climates, groups in different age brackets and both sexes. He answered questions relating to cancer following the talk.

The speaker was introduced by Joseph Kramer, program chairman.

Pleven Accepts Bid To Try for Cabinet

Paris, Aug. 3 (AP)—Former Premier Rene Pleven, a member of the small union of Democratic and Socialist resistance (UDSR) party, today accepted an invitation to try to form a new French cabinet.

Pleven was called by President Vincent Auriol to the task after Socialist Guy Mollet had declined. Party leaders have been trying for 25 days to form a government to replace that of Henri Queuille. Pleven's party is slightly right of center.

Mollet was the seventh man since July 10 to either refuse to try to form a cabinet or fail to get parlimentary confirmation as premier.

One of the seven was former Finance Minister Maurice Petsche who tried twice. Early today Petsche was refused confirmation by the National Assembly, failing to get the 314 votes required.

Tiger, 21, New York University student of Flushing, N. Y., on July 26. Municipal Judge Arthur Olson found probable negligence had not been proved. Zemek testified he upset the canoe in which he and Tiger were paddling on Lake Spofford but that they had agreed to do it before taking out the craft. Zemek said he knew Tiger could not swim very well but thought he was in shallower water when he overturned the canoe.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The army today announced the discharge of 90 U. S. Military Academy cadets for violating the "code of conduct."

The army did not immediately disclose the nature of the violations.

The official announcement said those ousted were cadets who had been prominent in various activities, including "varsity football."

Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, academy superintendent, said in a statement from West Point that the "infractions consisted of receiving improper outside assistance in academic work."

Irving added:

"In accordance with the accepted code of honor, a cadet is not permitted to seek or accept improper assistance in any of the tests presented to him in class."

The army said the names of the discharged cadets will not be released "so that no undue criticism of the individuals concerned will result."

The Military Academy has an enrollment of about 2,400. Most cadets are appointed to it upon congressional recommendations. They must, however, pass examinations and meet rigid physical and mental qualifications.

The dismissal action followed investigations and recommendations made by two groups, one composed of West Point officers and the other by the group headed by Justice Hand.

Man Is Acquitted

Winton, N. C., Aug. 3 (AP)—An all-male jury yesterday acquitted a new York white man of a charge of having carnal knowledge of a 15-year-old Negro girl but the verdict drew sharp criticism from a Superior Court judge. Judge Henry A. Grady of New Bern listened to the verdict in favor of Frank Newsome and then immediately ordered Newsome rearrested on charges of rape and perjury. The 45-year-old Mamaroneck, N. Y., delicatessen operator was returned to jail without privilege of bond to await Hertford county grand jury action in October.

Sixth Warning Phony

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Another anonymous bomb warning—the sixth this week—proved to be a phony. The latest telephoned threat came yesterday, when a voice, apparently feminine, told police that a bomb had been put in the municipal building on lower Manhattan. An hour-long search of the building and vicinity turned up nothing. The other five warnings—two at Idlewild Airport, two at a Long Island Railroad station in Brooklyn, and one at LaGuardia Field — also were labeled false.

License Is Returned

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A bass violin player and the former wife of New Rochelle's mayor took out a marriage license yesterday, but a few hours later postponed indefinitely the scheduled Sunday wedding. Violin player James K. Watson returned the license to the Queens License Bureau without comment. Later, the bride-to-have-been, Mrs. Eleanor Cederholm Church, former wife of New Rochelle Mayor Stanley W. Church, told a reporter by telephone that the ceremony had been postponed because of the publicity she and Watson received.

Quarrel Leads to Death

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A man and woman, battling in their fourth floor apartment last night, tumbled out of an open window into the street. The woman died soon after striking the sidewalk and the man was in critical condition today. The couple, both Negroes, were identified as Elva Keyes, 35, and Edgar Clements, 36, said to be living together as common-law man and wife. The cause of the argument in the Harlem flat was not learned.

May Ask Legislation

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York State Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, in a stormy battle over color lines, may ask today for state legislation barring discrimination in fraternal organizations. A resolution asking state action was slated for a floor vote at the closing session of the lodge's six-day convention. It was drafted by Nicholas Atlas of New York city, chairman of the group's civil rights committee, and 12 other Pythians.

Bill Is Approved

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The House Banking Committee has approved a $1,700,000,000 bill to increase housing in key defense areas. Most of the amount—$1,500,000,000—would be in the form of authorized mortgage insurance and would not require any appropriation of government funds. Only $200,000,000 would be in the form of outright grants and loans. The bill, approved yesterday, increases a Senate-approved housing aid measure by $65,000,000.

Was Very Big Mistake

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — Jay Biesser, 18-year-old Rockville, Md., high school student, asked the government for a tax refund of $21.88. He got a government check for $508,666.26! Calling yesterday to find out what it was all about, Diesser was told it was all a big mistake. A Treasury Department spokesman said a check writing machine operator probably punched the serial number instead of the correct amount.

Firemen Are Called

Firemen were called at 12:58 p. m., today to check a slight fire in a truck owned by the Erts Beverage Co., Poughkeepsie, at Broadway and Downs street. The blaze, caused by a short circuit in a battery cable, caused no damage other than that to the cable.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Failure of an early attempt to advance today left the stock market in a highly mixed condition.

Prices were strung out over a range of a little better than a dollar a share either way in the more active areas.

Major divisions in the unchanged to lower category were steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, and radio-television.

Oils were unchanged to slightly higher despite some excellent earnings reports and dividend actions.

Stocks losing ground included National Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Zenith Radio, Anaconda Copper, Dome Mines, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical, Union Pacific, and General Electric.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. government securities held steady in the over the counter market.

Locks Family Out, Pays $15 on Assault Charge

A Phoenicia man was arrested late Thursday night after his wife made her way in her bare feet to the home of Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police and claimed that she and her three children had been chased from their home and locked out, Cpl. Dunn reported.

Mrs. Ella Ashley was taken to Justice of the Peace Raymond Smith of Phoenicia, from whom she obtained a warrant for her husband's arrest on an assault, third degree, charge. The husband, Claude Ashley, was then taken before Justice Smith, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Reuter Assails American Order

Berlin, Aug. 3 (AP) — Mayor Ernst Reuter today assailed as "one of the worst things that has happened in Berlin" an American order that he instruct a Berlin court to reverse its verdict against an American-Soviet agent accused of having delivered Germans into Russian captivity.

Reuter told the City Parliament yesterday he had defied the order from U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy on constitutional grounds. He said he had no power to intervene with an independent court and that the court itself must decide if it would obey.

This morning the mayor called a news conference for foreign correspondents to add his personal comments on the case, which has damaged German-American relations in this outpost city.

The agent, Hans Kemritz, worked for the Russians and Americans here in the early years of the occupation. A Berlin court, in defiance of American directives, has assessed heavy monetary damages against Kemritz in favor of a German widow who charged the agent had lured her husband to arrest and eventual death in a Soviet prison.

Mrs. Massing was a witness at the second trial of Hiss, who was convicted of having lied in denying that he gave State Department documents to a pre-war Soviet spy courier.

She testified that Duggan, at the time she recruited him, was connected with the State Department's Latin American division and Field, she believed, was employed by the department's western European division.

She said that Field consented to furnish "documents and materials" while Duggan agreed only to transmit verbal reports. In answer to a question, Mrs. Massing testified that neither Field nor Duggan had any doubt she was a Communist.

line along the present front, which follows terrain that can be defended.

Joy closed Friday's session, the communique said, by posing "several searching questions in an effort to establish the general attitude of the Communist delegation toward a purely military armistice and the resultant cease-fire.

Red replies were not disclosed.

The communique said North Korean Lieut. Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate, "spoke for nearly two hours attempting to justify his previously expressed view that the military demarcation line should be fixed along a parallel of latitude rather than following significant terrain features which are militarily important to the security of the United Nations forces."

Owlett Sees Little

Stassen may be given first preference.

"We are very friendly to Mr. Stassen as an adopted son of Pennsylvania," said Owlett.

Stassen, former Minnesota governor, is now president of the University of Pennsylvania.

As another possible choice, Owlett intimated, "real consideration" must be given to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Although there have been reports of a break between Duff and Fine, since their primary and general election victories, both men have denied the reports.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Perhaps we should paste this thought in our hat as a constant reminder:

We are so blinded by the intense tempo of the present that we fail to see (or to plan for) the relentless pace of the future.

Undoubtedly, the chief cause of our failures to see ahead more clearly is the trait of thinking and guessing in terms of the immediate present—for the short run—instead of trying to throw our minds ahead into the longer future.

I am reminded to emphasize this common characteristic of most of us because of two books which recently I have been reading concurrently: "The Education of Henry Adams" (Houghton Mifflin & Co., 1918) and Memoirs of a Superfluous Man," by Albert J. Nock (Harper & Bros., 1943). Both Adams and Nock literally soaked themselves in history and in historical analogy, with the result they looked at the present and at the future with the experience of what the long-gone past had led to in its future. Nothing will bring home to you stronger the illusions of trying to gauge day-to-day events without regard to the past.

The point is that TRENDS are established when we least look for them (because we are engrossed in present problems). Later, when the results of the long trends become of intense current interest we have long since lost track of the causes. As Nock tells us, the nineteenth century bred what has occurred, and what is in store for us, in the twentieth.

Thus it is that well-saturated students of economic and social history often see clearly what is happening, but their comments and warnings go for naught because no one has the slightest conception of what they are talking about and believes they are merely crack pots who are behind the times.

So, during this hot weather when you need relaxation and some reading will rest you, go to your library and get these two books (if, that is, you are not familiar with them) and read them together.

You may be asking yourself what all this has to do with "contrary opinions," which is the subtitle of this column.

It seems to the Ruminator that it has everything to do with it.

First, people generally never think in terms of the long trends, but are only interested in today and tomorrow. Thus, they are near-sighted in their thinking.

Secondly, unless we recognize the TRENDS we can never hope to plan our futures. For example, Toynbee in his extraordinary essays on history, shows us clearly that the trend is toward greater intensity of social upheavals. The powerful tides that run toward the "left" commenced, many believe, a hundred years ago. If we review these trends of the past century and then check them with those of centuries going back to early Rome and Greece, we shall quickly see that there is little "new" in today's frantic sparring among nations.

For instance, right today we are caught in Russia's long-run strategy which completely enmeshes us in short-run confusion. All our efforts are desperately tied up in current affairs—controls, taxes, and similar momentary tribulations—while Russia sits back and smiles at our near-sightedness. The President's mid-year Economic Report is focussed on the "immediate" as usual.

We have not the remotest notion of where we are headed—because every move we make is predicted upon emergencies caused by the Machiavellian planning of the long-future Russians. The Kremlin pays no heed to today or to a shift in peace—so long as their policies remain fixed on the trend.

So it is that we shall continue to live in a shocking present until the time finally arrives when we assume the initiative and look ahead.

A Korean truce, therefore, will be merely a stop-gap in the long process—although we may hope for it in order to save further needless cost of lives. Even if one appeasement leads to another—when policies are established on short-run premise—what other recourse is there now?

Because we did not think ahead when the Korean conflict started, we got into something where we had no "out." Thus a stalemate with nothing gained, but with tragic losses in human lives and property.

Boom Is Underway

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 3 (AP)—The boom to re-elect Juan D. Peron as president of Argentina and make his wife, Eva vice-president was officially underway today. Although such a ticket has been widely predicted, it received new impetus last night when the General Federation of Labor (CGT) came out for both Peron and his wife. It was the first group with government connections to do so. Meanwhile, a strike of Argentine railway engineers and firemen opposed to the Peron regime entered its third day. Service on two main lines was slowed down but there was no indication of any serious affects nor that the walkout was spreading.

Law Is Adopted

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—Communist Albania announced today it has adopted a law cutting off the Roman Catholic Church in that country from all relations with the Vatican. A Tirana radio broadcast said that under the new law the church in Albania will be subsidized by the government. It will be permitted to follow "the established world Catholic code, so long as this "does not conflict with the laws of the Albanian people's republic, public order and good customs."

Ground Search Ends For Missing Couple

Yuma, Ariz., Aug. 3 (AP) — A ground search has been given up for two Californians whose undamaged rented plane was found Tuesday 50 miles southeast of Yuma, but the air rescue unit from March Air Force Base, Calif., was to continue the hunt today.

Sheriff Jim Washum announced last night the end of his part of the search for Klaus Martens, 28, Pasadena, Calif., and June Walker, 22, South Pasadena. They have been missing since July 15 when they took off in a rented plane from East Los Angeles for Blythe, Calif.

A note in the plane said they were starting to walk west "at 5:45 a. m. Monday." The sheriff expressed belief "Monday" was July 16.

After leading a ground search party of 40 men in a 2½-day hunt over the searing desert wastes, the sheriff said deputies in a jeep had followed the tracks of the man and woman for 3½ miles west from the plane. The tracks disappeared completely on top of a little ridge. Search of a 10 to 12-mile area from the plane failed to disclose any other trace of the missing couple.

The sheriff said that Miss Walker, a student nurse, could not have gone over seven or eight miles across the rough desert land if she were dressed as reported in shorts and without a hat.

Temperatures in the area rise to more than 120 degrees during the day.

New York Police Would Join Union

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Spurning advice of the city administration, some 3,000 to 5,000 New York city policemen reportedly have applied to join the CIO Transport Workers Union.

The city has 19,000 policemen.

Early this year, the CIO union, headed by Michael J. Quill, launched a drive to sign up police, promising them a fight for better pay and other benefits.

The campaign drew the denunciation of then Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, who said cops couldn't remain loyal to their trusts and belong to a union. Mayor Vincent Impellitteri also criticized the move.

Quill said yesterday that a charter will be issued the new police union within a month. He said each application contains a no-strike clause.

Working on Cartoon Strip

Fritzi Streibel Turns Playwright To Aid Foundation

Woodstock, Aug. 2—This week, until Sunday night, she is Madame Chauffourier-Dubrieff, wife of the governor of the Bank of Paris, in a chic blue gown in the elegant company on stage in the second act of Tovarich at the Woodstock Playhouse. To Woodstockers, she is the year-around Fritzi Streibel, wife of the famous cartoonist, John Streibel, creator of the cartoon strip "Dixie Dugan." Her role off-stage includes designing the clothes worn by the fabulous Dixie Dugan, in order that Streibel's heroine, whose experiences are followed by millions of comic strip readers, may be kept up to the minute in feminine fashion for her audience.

Actress and designer, Fritzi Streibel has now turned playwright. An aura of mystery has surrounded the Streibel home for the past three weeks, but a sufficient number of tantalizing tidbits have leaked out to warrant the general air of excitement concerning the Woodstock Foundation production scheduled for September. Mrs. Streibel, with Mrs. Carl Hubbell is co-author of a melodrama based on the life of a family in Woodstock, whose son aspires to becoming an artist.

Only a few members of the board of directors of the Woodstock Foundation have been permitted to hear a first reading of the Streibel-Hubbell opus, but they have reported that a masterpiece of fun, and amusement is in the making.

Mrs. Streibel is thoroughly familiar with the particular brand of melodrama and nonsense which has become the hallmark of Woodstock Foundation productions. Two years ago she played the lead in Gold in the Hills, which was presented again last fall, with the lead part taken by Jane Lloyd-Jones, heroine of this week's production at the Playhouse.

Fritzi Streibel, a petite, lovely brunette, who looks as though she should be concerned with nothing more pressing that what gown to wear at a debutante ball, is the founder of the Junior Fashion Designers in connection with the Dixie Dugan comic strip.

Antique Show Draws Many at Red Barn

Woodstock, Aug. 3—The second annual Woodstock Summer Antiques Show opened at the Red Barn on Stone House Lane on Monday afternoon with an even larger attendance of antique enthusiasts than last year. To this show have come dealers from as far away at St. Paul, Minnesota, with others from Albany, Schenectady, Georgetown, Conn., and of course Woodstock's entire list of antique shops represented.

In many respects this year's shows appears to contain smaller objects than those on view last year. With a lesser amount of furniture, there is a greater concentration of glass and china ware, and a wide assortment of appealing pieces of jewelry, quaint lockets and chains, bracelets and earrings. There are colorful quilts and bedspreads, dolls and miniature furniture.

One of the corner booths which offers an unusual opportunity for browsing, features a large collection of old colored prints. The series devoted to graceful and elegant carriages and quaint early automobiles, is particularly delightful.

The show which is being sponsored by Mrs. Louise Bolton and Miss Winifred Haile, will continue through Sunday, August 5.

String Quartet to Do Return Engagement

Woodstock, Aug. 3—The Woodstock String Quartet which presented a concert this week at Oneonta under the auspices of the State Teachers' College, before an audience of more than 500 people, and in Cooperstown at Fenimore House under the auspices of the State Historical Society, has been re-engaged for two appearances in 1952 in both places.

The quartet will again be absent on Thursday, Aug. 9, from Woodstock. Yvonne Druian and Joseph Druian will be heard on that date in a recital of compositions for piano and cello at the Woodstock Town Hall at 8:30 p. m.

The two final concerts will be taken over by the Woodstock String Quartet with Ilse Sass, pianist, on Aug. 16, and Leon Barzin, violist, and Joseph Wolman, pianist, on Aug. 23. This will be Mr. Barzin's only appearance this season with the quartet. He will be heard in a Brahms Sonata for piano and viola, in Turina's Scenes Andalouses for viola solo, string quartet and piano and in Mendelssohn's incomparable string octet. Cynthia Eddy, cellist, will take part in this performance as well as two more violinists, whose names will be announced in the near future.

Police Rescue Russian

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Police had to rescue a Russian on Park avenue last night. He was jostled and thumped by pickets parading in front of the Soviet Union's United Nations building. The Russian emerged from the building with two others, all headed for a waiting car. When he was intercepted by the pickets, the other two drove off. None was identified. Some 150 marchers, members of the American-Hungarian Federation have been demonstrating in front of the Soviet headquarters — protesting conditions in Red-dominated Hungary. An unidentified woman thumped the Russian's back with her fist during the excitement. She was ordered out of the picket line by police and picket leaders. The demonstrators previously were called "hooligans" by Jacob Malik, Soviet U.N. delegate.

Big Girder Arrives

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A giant 107-ton steel girder—the largest single shipment through the city in the history of the New York Central Railroad—arrived yesterday. It was floated across the Hudson river from Jersey City to the railroad's west side freight yards. The girder, 153 feet long, 11 feet five inches high, will be transported on flatcars north to Brewster, N. Y., then south to Woodlawn station in New York for use in construction of the Bronx River Parkway extension where it crosses the New York Central tracks.

Judge Slashes Possible Damages

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (AP)—Possible damages in playwright Emmet Lavery's slander suit against Mrs. Lela Rogers and others were cut from $1,000,000 to $200,000 by a superior court ruling yesterday.

Judge Arnold Praeger, hearing the trial of the suit, based on a radio debate over communism in Hollywood, granted a non-suit as to the $800,000 Lavery claimed as general damages.

He was to hear further arguments today on a motion for a nonsuit in the remaining demands. Lavery contends he was portrayed as a friend of the Communist party and that the debate damaged his reputation and prevented the success of his stage play, "The Gentleman From Athens."

In addition to Mrs. Rogers, mother of actress Ginger Rogers, denfendants include the American Broadcasting Company, Town Hall, Inc., and a group from the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals, alleged to have helped prepare Mrs. Rogers' speech.

Charles Francis O'Connor, one of the latter, was dismissed as a defendant on motion of his lawyer, on the ground that he did not participate in the conferences over the speech.

The case has been on trial for more than three weeks.

Previously, he had worked more than 25 years for metropolitan newspapers. They included the Herald Tribune, the Journal, the World-Telegram and the Brooklyn Eagle.

Dime for Police

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—In addition to a revolver, a nightstick and handcuffs, Ithaca policemen now have another "must" item to be carried off duty—a dime. The city has issued each cop a dime to be used periodically to call headquarters from a telephone pay station while on his beat. When the officer identifies himself to the telephone operator, the dime is returned—to be used over and over again.

Who Fail to Get the Right Amount of Vitamins and Minerals From the Food They Eat says—United Cut Rate Phcy.

"Try this new Vitamin-Iron-Iodine reconstructive tonic for just 30 days, and see if it doesn't increase your strength and endurance. You must be convinced — be fully satisfied, or it won't cost you a penny."

This news should bring good cheer to the Thin, Nutritionally Ailing, Run-down, Delicate folks in this town.

FERRIZAN is a marvelous new reconstructive tonic combining Iron and Iodine with Vitamins—far more effective than just vitamins alone. A true dietary supplement. Gets results quicker and does not blacken the teeth or injure them in any way, nor does Ferrizan upset the stomach. So do not confuse Ferrizan with old-fashioned Iron Tonics. Ferrizan is the modern way—to help you get the important B Vitamins — the Iron (for blood) and Iodine (for the ductless glands) to correct inadequacies and help you regain and maintain a more normal healthy body.

It is almost incredible the way rundown delicate, anemic folks — people who seem to be ailing most of the time, begin to perk up when they start taking Ferrizan with their meals. Sunken cheeks and other hollows should fill out through better assimilation of the food. . . . Sallowness due to iron-impoverished blood often gives way to a healthier color . . . and as you feel stronger, nervousness should ease up; you may feel like a million dollars—better—younger—brighter, all because you've given your body, blood and glands, through Ferrizan, the deficiency vitamins and minerals you so sorely may have needed.

If you feel fatigued and irritable most of the time, low spirited and discouraged, you owe it to yourself and your loved ones to accept this generous offer.

"Take Ferrizan for 30 days and then if you are in any way dissatisfied, your money will be cheerfully refunded," says United Cut Rate Phcy.

Ground Search Ends For Missing Couple

Yuma, Ariz., Aug. 3 (AP) — A ground search has been given up for two Californians whose undamaged rented plane was found Tuesday 50 miles southeast of Yuma, but the air rescue unit from March Air Force Base, Calif., was to continue the hunt today.

Sheriff Jim Washum announced last night the end of his part of the search for Klaus Martens, 28, Pasadena, Calif., and June Walker, 22, South Pasadena. They have been missing since July 15 when they took off in a rented plane from East Los Angeles for Blythe, Calif.

A note in the plane said they were starting to walk west "at 5:45 a. m. Monday." The sheriff expressed belief "Monday" was July 16.

After leading a ground search party of 40 men in a 2½-day hunt over the searing desert wastes, the sheriff said deputies in a jeep had followed the tracks of the man and woman for 3½ miles west from the plane. The tracks disappeared completely on top of a little ridge. Search of a 10 to 12-mile area from the plane failed to disclose any other trace of the missing couple.

The sheriff said that Miss Walker, a student nurse, could not have gone over seven or eight miles across the rough desert land if she were dressed as reported in shorts and without a hat.

Temperatures in the area rise to more than 120 degrees during the day.

New York Police Would Join Union

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Spurning advice of the city administration, some 3,000 to 5,000 New York city policemen reportedly have applied to join the CIO Transport Workers Union.

The city has 19,000 policemen.

Early this year, the CIO union, headed by Michael J. Quill, launched a drive to sign up police, promising them a fight for better pay and other benefits.

The campaign drew the denunciation of then Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, who said cops couldn't remain loyal to their trusts and belong to a union. Mayor Vincent Impellitteri also criticized the move.

Quill said yesterday that a charter will be issued the new police union within a month. He said each application contains a no-strike clause.

Fritzi Streibel Turns Playwright To Aid Foundation

Woodstock, Aug. 2—This week, until Sunday night, she is Madame Chauffourier-Dubrieff, wife of the governor of the Bank of Paris, in a chic blue gown in the elegant company on stage in the second act of Tovarich at the Woodstock Playhouse. To Woodstockers, she is the year-around Fritzi Streibel, wife of the famous cartoonist, John Streibel, creator of the cartoon strip "Dixie Dugan." Her role off-stage includes designing the clothes worn by the fabulous Dixie Dugan, in order that Streibel's heroine, whose experiences are followed by millions of comic strip readers, may be kept up to the minute in feminine fashion for her audience.

Actress and designer, Fritzi Streibel has now turned playwright. An aura of mystery has surrounded the Streibel home for the past three weeks, but a sufficient number of tantalizing tidbits have leaked out to warrant the general air of excitement concerning the Woodstock Foundation production scheduled for September. Mrs. Streibel, with Mrs. Carl Hubbell is co-author of a melodrama based on the life of a family in Woodstock, whose son aspires to becoming an artist.

Only a few members of the board of directors of the Woodstock Foundation have been permitted to hear a first reading of the Streibel-Hubbell opus, but they have reported that a masterpiece of fun, and amusement is in the making.

Mrs. Streibel is thoroughly familiar with the particular brand of melodrama and nonsense which has become the hallmark of Woodstock Foundation productions. Two years ago she played the lead in Gold in the Hills, which was presented again last fall, with the lead part taken by Jane Lloyd-Jones, heroine of this week's production at the Playhouse.

Fritzi Streibel, a petite, lovely brunette, who looks as though she should be concerned with nothing more pressing that what gown to wear at a debutante ball, is the founder of the Junior Fashion Designers in connection with the Dixie Dugan comic strip.

Antique Show Draws Many at Red Barn

Woodstock, Aug. 3—The second annual Woodstock Summer Antiques Show opened at the Red Barn on Stone House Lane on Monday afternoon with an even larger attendance of antique enthusiasts than last year. To this show have come dealers from as far away at St. Paul, Minnesota, with others from Albany, Schenectady, Georgetown, Conn., and of course Woodstock's entire list of antique shops represented.

In many respects this year's shows appears to contain smaller objects than those on view last year. With a lesser amount of furniture, there is a greater concentration of glass and china ware, and a wide assortment of appealing pieces of jewelry, quaint lockets and chains, bracelets and earrings. There are colorful quilts and bedspreads, dolls and miniature furniture.

One of the corner booths which offers an unusual opportunity for browsing, features a large collection of old colored prints. The series devoted to graceful and elegant carriages and quaint early automobiles, is particularly delightful.

The show which is being sponsored by Mrs. Louise Bolton and Miss Winifred Haile, will continue through Sunday, August 5.

String Quartet to Do Return Engagement

Woodstock, Aug. 3—The Woodstock String Quartet which presented a concert this week at Oneonta under the auspices of the State Teachers' College, before an audience of more than 500 people, and in Cooperstown at Fenimore House under the auspices of the State Historical Society, has been re-engaged for two appearances in 1952 in both places.

The quartet will again be absent on Thursday, Aug. 9, from Woodstock. Yvonne Druian and Joseph Druian will be heard on that date in a recital of compositions for piano and cello at the Woodstock Town Hall at 8:30 p. m.

The two final concerts will be taken over by the Woodstock String Quartet with Ilse Sass, pianist, on Aug. 16, and Leon Barzin, violist, and Joseph Wolman, pianist, on Aug. 23. This will be Mr. Barzin's only appearance this season with the quartet. He will be heard in a Brahms Sonata for piano and viola, in Turina's Scenes Andalouses for viola solo, string quartet and piano and in Mendelssohn's incomparable string octet. Cynthia Eddy, cellist, will take part in this performance as well as two more violinists, whose names will be announced in the near future.

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Police had to rescue a Russian on Park avenue last night. He was jostled and thumped by pickets parading in front of the Soviet Union's United Nations building. Some 150 marchers, members of the American-Hungarian Federation have been demonstrating in front of the Soviet headquarters — protesting conditions in Red-dominated Hungary. An unidentified woman thumped the Russian's back with her fist during the excitement. She was ordered out of the picket line by police and picket leaders. Judge Slashes Possible Damages

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (AP)—Possible damages in playwright Emmet Lavery's slander suit against Mrs. Lela Rogers and others were cut from $1,000,000 to $200,000 by a superior court ruling yesterday.

Judge Arnold Praeger, hearing the trial of the suit, based on a radio debate over communism in Hollywood, granted a non-suit as to the $800,000 Lavery claimed as general damages.

He was to hear further arguments today on a motion for a non-suit in the remaining demands. Lavery contends he was portrayed as a friend of the Communist party and that the debate damaged his reputation and prevented the success of his stage play, "The Gentleman From Athens."

In addition to Mrs. Rogers, mother of actress Ginger Rogers, denfendants include the American Broadcasting Company, Town Hall, Inc., and a group from the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals, alleged to have helped prepare Mrs. Rogers' speech.

Charles Francis O'Connor, one of the latter, was dismissed as a defendant on motion of his lawyer, on the ground that he did not participate in the conferences over the speech.

The case has been on trial for more than three weeks.

Mulhern Named Assistant Boss

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Thomas F. Mulhern has been appointed assistant regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions for the New York-New Jersey region.

His promotion from regional investigation supervisor, a post he had held since November, 1944, was announced last night. He joined the division as as an investigator in 1939.

Previously, he had worked more than 25 years for metropolitan newspapers. They included the Herald Tribune, the Journal, the World-Telegram and the Brooklyn Eagle.

Mulhern is a former president of the New York City Classified Advertising Managers Association.

Dime for Police

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—In addition to a revolver, a nightstick and handcuffs, Ithaca policemen now have another "must" item to be carried off duty—a dime. The city has issued each cop a dime to be used periodically to call headquarters from a telephone pay station while on his beat. When the officer identifies himself to the telephone operator, the dime is returned—to be used over and over again.

GOOD FROM THE ATOM

The radioactive isotopes, produced by means of atomic energy and having a wide variety of uses in medical treatment and research and in industrial and other scientific research, are to be made available to the laboratories of other nations. Heretofore only a few of them have been exported; now all which are available for unrestricted use in the United States also may be sold abroad.

The announcement naturally leads to fresh speculation as to what great things might be accomplished with atomic energy if it were not for the considerations of military uses and secrecy. Yet perhaps we should not forget to speculate sometimes on where atomic research might be today had it not played a part in the war. Before the science attained military importance, the chief research was carried out in a few university laboratories, equipped under the usual university financial limitations. Taken up as a military project, atomic research blossomed forth in its own big laboratories, with equipment built to the designs of the scientists without regard for cost. Today the Atomic Energy Commission has a number of plants, with about five thousand employes and an annual budget running well over half a billion dollars. All this would have been inconceivable without the impetus of war.

It has been said by some scientists that the discovery of atomic energy ranks in significance with the discovery of fire. If this estimate is correct, all the habits of mankind will one day be changed by it. Looking at it now, World War II seems only to have moved us out of the frying pan into the fire, but future historians may record it as an epochal event, not as a war but as the birthday of one of the greatest discoveries of all time.

When John Quincy Adams was in Russia in 1809, the Imperial Chancellor told him that the policy of his government was to support and favor the United States, "as by their relative situation the two powers could never be dangerous to each other." How the world changes!

WORLD TEACHING UNITY

Teachers from nineteen free nations met at Malta recently to discuss mutual educational problems and closer cooperation among the free nations in educating their children. Several programs for a really unified effort by forming an alliance or confederation were suggested and there was a certain amount of debate and disagreement about just what sort of organization might be most effective. Debate and free exchange of ideas are an essential part of education as well as of democracy.

The idea of some sort of coordination of the educational programs in all free countries has merit. Standards of education vary, and methods differ with the background of the children and the nature of the communities in which they live. But in all free lands there is a common desire to teach the principles of freedom and the responsibility that it entails.

The time is past when children in one country can grow up completely independent of children in another. How a child in Italy will think and act when he becomes an adult is influenced by what he learns now. His behavior when he grows up may have a great effect on the safety of children who grow up in America. Educators, realizing this, are wise to move toward world cooperation in education.

Television has great educational possibilities for the youngsters, we are told. One thing, we know, is that they have been able to pick up some fancy wrestling holds to try out on their playmates.

WEAKNESS NOT GEOGRAPHICAL

It is shocking news that eight Bradley University basketball players have now been revealed as bribe-takers.

When the sweeping bribe disclosures involving a number of New York city colleges were made last winter, little Bradley, out in Peoria, Ill., in the heart of rural America, adopted an air of sanctity. The school decided not to play again in the "unsavory atmosphere" of Madison Square Garden.

But, tragically, it appears that vulnerability to bribe offers has no special geographic limits. Nor is it exclusively a characteristic found in "city slickers."

Among life's most pleasant habits is that of being happy—and the cost is not inflated.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

FREDERICK V. FIELD

Frederick Vanderbilt Field has come into the news as a millionaire Don Quixote, duelling the windmills of the law, in grim, determined hopelessness. His thin, youthful figure gives him the air more of a Hamlet than a Don Quixote. He rejected the disciplines of his family, his country, his God, but goes to jail for accepting the discipline of Joe Stalin.

It all seemed so unnecessary and so fruitless. Freddie used to be a gentle and lovable person, charming to a fault, gay and big-hearted. That tight mouth and fist clenched about his pipe, that fighting to be silent when his very nature should force him to speak out loud, shows what the disciplines of communism can do to a man, once he submits to its rigidities.

When I first met Freddie Field, he was not a Communist. He was a mild but very confused Norman Thomas Socialist who had come to the Far East on his honeymoon and was full of ideas on how to save the world.

In the 19th century, he would probably have become a clergyman, perhaps a missionary. In the period of Theodore Roosevelt, he might have fought the trusts or gone in for conservation. In the era of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he became a Communist, but with a bitterness, a vindictiveness hardly understandable to those who believe that boys and girls of good families could not possibly became Stalin's stooges. It is too often boys and girls of good families who make bad headlines.

Freddie's background was not unusual for a Vanderbilt. He lived in a marble palace on Fifth Avenue and in the magnificent estate, "Highlawn" in Lee, Massachusetts, near Lenox and Stockbridge.

Freddie went to Hotchkiss where he encountered the mild reformism that went in those days as socialism. After that came Harvard where he made the best clubs and the "Crimson."

Frederick Vanderbilt Field's mother was a gentle woman who managed the complicated affairs of such a household with competence and efficiency. I lived for some months of the year in the Berkshires and can say that the townspeople still remember Mrs. Field favorably.

The same cannot be said about the father. He was a curiously gross person, reactionary, selfish, over-powering. We once argued about revolutions and the Communists and the forces at work in the world. I reached the conclusion that had he lived in Germany, he would have been a Nazi.

There can be no question but that the really dominant factor in Freddie's conversion to Marxism was a revolt against his father, who did nothing but live on inherited wealth. This revolt turned to distress as his father's life became increasingly messy.

His great friendship with Joseph Barner, at college and at the Institute of Pacific Relations, ended when his first wife left him and married Barnes. To an outsider, Freddie and his first wife seemed to be perfectly mated and very attached to each other. Often the man with his fist against his own life turns to some rigid discipline as a rationalization for the causes of his bitterness.

The tragedy in Field's life is that he rebelled against the disciplines of a society he knew and understood and yet accepted the rigid disciplines of international communism, on account of which he is now in jail and likely to be for some time. It is this Communist discipline which forces him to lie by silence.

It is difficult to understand what pressures, intellectual or otherwise, the Communists can force upon such a person that will drive him to the extremities which Field is obviously pursuing. What urgencies are employed? What power do they exercise over him? What fears, what hopes do they engender?

I do not know.

I was discussing this situation the other day with a man who was Field's friend at Harvard. They were both on the "Crimson" and both belonged to the same clubs. They had been quite close. This man, no more than I, could visualize the Freddie Field we knew, all mixed up in the silliness of refusing to answer because Communist discipline required him not to answer.

Yet, we know that Larry Duggan went to his death, by suicide or was pushed out of a window, because of the same discipline. And we know of Whittaker Chambers's fears and of Alger Hiss's curious conduct.

The long arm of the Kremlin reaches far and plucks at all kinds and classes of persons, its horrible work to perform.

That Body of Yours

FATIGUE AND ALLERGY

Physicians are finding that while pain stands first as cause for consulting a physician, fatigue (tiredness) is now a leading reason for visits to, or from, the physician. The whole world seems to be tired.

In Annals of Allergy, Dr. M. G. Mayer, Michigan City, Indiana, states that three per cent of all new patients seen over a year's period offered fatigue as their sole reason for seeking medical attention. It was found that those who showed allergic tendencies seemed more likely to develop fatigue, and investigation of these cases from the standpoint of allergy was thoroughly made.

"Surprising results were obtained when the offending factor or substances, generally foods, were omitted or removed," writes Dr. Mayer. "Forty-eight per cent became well of fatigue in the group with organic disease not deemed sufficient to cause fatigue symptoms, and 60 per cent became well of fatigue in the group in whom no organic disease was found." Thus Dr. Mayer points out that allergy and physical and mental effort may work together in causing the entire nervous and muscular system to become fatigued. In his experience, it is impossible to find intelligent individuals who possess complete nervous equilibrium or balance—yet not all complain of fatigue.

Physicians have long known that allergy is more prevalent among schoolteachers than among any other one group. And those well acquainted with the duties of teachers are the first to agree that it is a most exhausting profession and that schoolteachers as a class deserve and need the lengthy summer holidays granted them. In order to keep their students alert and awake to absorb what they are teaching, teachers have to keep themselves keyed up. This alertness causes tenseness of nerves and muscles and tenseness for twenty minutes or half hour is exhausting.

If, added to this tenseness which tires, there is added allergy to various everyday substances, it is easily understood why school teachers and others naturally suffer with fatigue.

When undue fatigue is present, search for allergy should be made and removed if possible, as the above figures presented by Dr. Mayer tell their own story.

"Whaddya Mean 'Peace,' Suh?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman has sent a confidential memo to all cabinet officers ordering them to clear their out-of-town appearances with Democratic National Chairman Bill Boyle. Some folks consider this a tip that HST plans to run again, since this is the first time he has sent formal political instructions to his cabinet. Anyway here is the confidential letter:

"Mr. Boyle, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made a suggestion to me which I think is worthwhile. He would like very much to be notified when cabinet officers, secretaries and undersecretaries go into any community outside of Washington for the purpose of making a speech, so he can arrange a proper reception for them when they get into town.

"He thinks that would not only help their prestige in the community, but would give our local leaders a chance to be in the limelight to some extent, and that is a very necessary procedure in a political organization.

"I'll appreciate it very much if this procedure can be followed," the President concluded in what amounts to a polite, but positive order.

Free Fishing Trip

If it's hot in Washington and you are high enough up in the Pentagon, it's fairly easy to go fishing in cool, far-off Newfoundland. Or at least Assistant Secretary of the Army Earl D. Johnson found this to be so the other day.

Mr. Johnson has the excuse that his mobilization assignment is with MATS, the air transport agency of the armed services, so he slips away for flights with MATS from time to time. Accordingly last July 10 found him on a hospital plane from Westover, Mass., flying to the air base at Stephensville, Newfoundland.

The hospital plane is equipped with stretchers for flying wounded out of Korea, and just what it was doing on the run to Europe in not known.

Arriving at Stephensville, Assistant Secretary Johnson was entertained by the commanding officer, Col. Clayton Hughes. Another colonel, Andrew Cannon, a MATS transport group commander, whose headquarters is Kelly Air Base, Texas, also had some time to kill in the cool of Newfoundland, so the three cooked up a fishing trip.

An air force helicopter, normally used for air rescue operations, was on hand, and Col. Hughes arranged to give Assistant Secretary Johnson a demonstration. The rescue demonstration featured a flight to a salmon stream where they attempted to rescue some salmon.

Assistant Secretary Johnson, when queried about the incident, explained that he also made a helicopter inspection of the air force's installations, but admitted he spent most of the time fishing—about six hours.

"However," he added a little ruefully, "I didn't catch any fish."

Congressional Grandparents

Three-month-old Kristie Lynn Cavalcante of Uniontown, Pa., whose two grandfathers served in the House of Representatives at the same time, will add a grandmother to the congressional list when Congresswoman-elect Vera Buchanan of Pennsylvania is sworn in this week.

Kristie Lynn is the granddaughter of Mrs. Buchanan and the late Rep. Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania. After her husband's death this year, Mrs. Buchanan was elected to his seat in a special election.

Kristie Lynn also is the granddaughter of former Rep. Tony Cavalcante of Pennsylvania, who was a colleague of Buchanan for one term in the House. Some day her dad, William Cavalcante, a Uniontown law student, hopes to succeed his father in Congress.

If this happens Kristie Lynn really will have something to brag about—three grandparents and one father in Congress.

Communism in Arab World

Though it was known that an agent of the ex-Grand Mufti of Jerusalem assassinated King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, it is not generally known that the Grand Mufti, having been Hitler's paid agent in the Near East, has now taken over the same job for Moscow.

The Mufti has turned up at various Pan-Islamic meetings throughout the Middle East as the tool of Moscow and stager of revolt against the west. And to show that Moscow is the great friend of the Arab world, the Mufti has been given the job of establishing an Arab university in Communist Warsaw.

Furthermore it is now beginning to look as if the Grand Mufti and his agents were behind the agitation against the British in Egypt, the assassination of the late pro-British premier of Iran and the murder of other leaders friendly to the West.

One significant aspect of the Mufti's operations is the way the Nazis and the Communists not only are using the same tactics, but bet their money on the same man. During the war, Hitler and Mussolini paid the Mufti nearly half a million dollars. And on April 5, 1945, just one month before the war ended, the Nazis signed a contract with him to continue stirring up trouble in the Near East.

Though Hitler killed himself soon afterward, the Mufti is certainly carrying out his part of the bargain.

Cigarettes for Germans

Careful scrutiny of the law governing Marshall Plan aid shows that it's full of sleepers, designed to aid private interests in this country as much as the needy people of Europe.

For example, the law provides ECA dollars to buy tobacco for Germany, but stipulates that the tobacco must be purchased in the United States. This is a $45,000,000 windfall for U. S. tobacco interests at the U. S. taxpayers' expense. For the taxpayers are already subsidizing over $30,000,000 of Greek tobacco which is rotting in Greek warehouses.

The Germans used to buy most of Greece's tobacco crop. Now that Germany is forced to buy American tobacco, however, the taxpayers not only furnish the money for the tobacco Germany buys but also pays for the Greek tobacco crop which Germany does not buy. In other words, the taxpayers put out approximately $75,000,000 per year, so that American tobacco interests can sell $45,000,000 worth of tobacco to Germany.

Note — Largest exporters of ECA tobacco to Germany are L. B. Jenkins of Kinston, N. C., J. E. Bohannon of Bolling Green, Ky., Universal Leaf of Richmond, Va., and Austin Tobacco Co. of Greenville, Tenn.

Burros for Realism

New York, (AP)—At the 12,000 acre Ten Mile River Scout Camps in Narrowsburg, N. Y., 100 miles from here, 43 burros have been imported from Texas to help Boy Scouts learn the skills of the "wide open spaces." Only 42 burros left Texas, but an addition was born enroute. Boys attending the camps will be taught proper trail packing methods and how to tie a real "diamond hitch." All in all, the imported burros are expected to bring the old west right up close for New York scouts this summer.

Reds Have More to Gain Than Lose by Accepting UN Proposal for Line

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 3—The Communists have every reason to accept the United Nations proposal for a defense line marked by the present position of the military forces in Korea. Logically, the Reds have so much more to gain than to lose by agreeing to it that they can well afford to give the U.N. something to "save face."

For if the 38th Parallel isn't the exact armistice line and a zone a few miles north of it is established as a basis for the cease-fire, the U.N. can say that it achieved something beyond what South Korea had when the aggression started more than a year ago. Since the United States and the U.N. have announced that the original purpose—to repel aggression at the 38th Parallel — has been achieved already, the allies cannot make much of an issue or resume fighting just because of a disagreement on the Armistice line.

The Reds, on the other hand, would be acquiring undisputed possession for the indefinite future of virtually all of North Korea. This is the biggest stake of all, for which they gladly would terminate the fighting now, knowing that by so doing they keep the U.N. forces bogged down in Korea for years to come.

From a propaganda standpoint, the Communists benefit a great deal, too. For they know full well the U.N. troops will not be withdrawn, because there is no guarantee in sight or likely to be given that would assure against a recurrence of aggression at any moment. The demand that there be a withdrawal will, however, be repeated by the Communists at frequent intervals and the U.N. will be exhibited in propaganda as occupying Korea allegedly against the will of the inhabitants.

The allies have fallen into the Communist trap on the negotiating tactics. By insisting that all "political questions" be excluded from the armistice negotiations, a cessation of hostilities is brought about without settling the real matters of substance—the establishment of peace throughout Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign troops. Knowing in advance the U.N. attitude, the Communists have tried adroitly to insert these two main political issues in the armistice negotiations, no doubt expecting rejection. The U.N. representatives have gone on record, upon instructions from the home governments, as refusing to discuss these issues.

If this goal—a cease-fire around the 38th Parallel and without a political settlement—was what the UN really wanted all the time, then the record will show the same thing might have been obtained on March 24 last when General MacArthur offered to arrange with the enemy field commanders a cease-fire without discussing any political questions. The American government and the UN failed to back up the MacArthur proposal. The general was never told at the time that the President or the United Nations had decided to negotiate on this or any other basis. Inaccurate statements have been made in the press that the general was so informed and that he knew negotiations had begun, but the verbatim record of the Senate hearings reveals that both General Collins and Secretary Acheson testified flatly that the Far Eastern commander was never given any such word.

What did happen was that the American government immediately repudiated in public General MacArthur's overture broadcast to the enemy commander as a piece of psychological warfare.

The excuse given in Washington for failing to indorse the MacArthur move was that his message to the Communist commander had in it a few phrases saying the UN threatened to expand the war. It did draw the attention to the weak position of the enemy and stated that if the United Nations decided to carry the war to the enemy bases, the Reds wouldn't have a chance for victory. The enemy had not been using pussyfoot language in its broadcasts either, and probably were not offended by MacArthur's words. It is incredible that the phrase describing the more advantageous UN military position last March could have been the actual basis for the refusal of the Reds to consider what he offered them.

The real reason undoubtedly was that the Communists did not think at that time that the UN would arrange a cease-fire between enemy commanders and leave North Korea in the hands of the Communists, which for all practical purposes it will be. Naturally, after the dismissal of MacArthur and the public statements of our officials that military means would not be used to seek pacification of all Korea, the Reds, through Malik, jumped at the chance to get what they are getting now—a cease-fire without a political settlement.

Once the fighting stops, the Reds know the UN will not resume hostilities just to gain possession of North Korea. The Communists are back about where they started from in June, 1950, and have subjected the United States to a terrific expense, a dislocation of its military forces in the world and the loss of 80,000 casualties. And it remains to be seen whether Communist aggression has been repelled in Korea or elsewhere in the world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 2—The investigation of the so-called reserve clause of the standard baseball contract is a cheese-cake exploit by a group of congressmen who would be better employed counting paper-clips, a work of equal public importance but greater dignity. Baseball is an athletic game and a sport, but it is nevertheless an industry and there is no reason why this particular industry should have the benefit of a special clause in the anti-trust law to let it operate a monopolistic scheme. The confirmation of this exemption as a special privilege of baseball is the purpose of the present frivolity.

My personal sentiments toward baseball are affectionate, but so are my sentiments toward journalism and I note that we had an anti-trust case in our profession a few years ago and lost it but have been forging upward and onward to finer things, nevertheless. True, we kicked and squalled and carried on, but I kept thinking that the free press was not the material properties of soulless corporatons, whose thrift is ever forward in my pleas, but the right to put facts and ideas on paper. It seemed to me that this right was not disparaged by the surly allegations of the D of J and though my cheek blanched and the world swam before my eyes at the meanness of our gov't toward a noble institution, I kept whispering "the wrong shall fail; the right prevail" and so they have, respectively.

It does no harm to let the people dream that they own baseball and that it is a national treasure like Gene Tunney or the Fourth of July. But the magnates are practical men who would bring you up short if you should try to assert some proprietary right. Although amateurs play baseball, diminuendo, I regret to say, in college in the schools and on the lots, the rules are made by the industry and are altered in fine detail from time to time by commercial operators for their own ends. Ever since 1914, to my knowledge and, possibly since a little before, the industry has been mincing skittishly around the courts to evade judgments which its own lawyers feared with the morbid despair of counsel who knew they couldn't even cop a plea. GOOD FROM THE ATOM

The radioactive isotopes, produced by means of atomic energy and having a wide variety of uses in medical treatment and research and in industrial and other scientific research, are to be made available to the laboratories of other nations. Heretofore only a few of them have been exported; now all which are available for unrestricted use in the United States also may be sold abroad.

The announcement naturally leads to fresh speculation as to what great things might be accomplished with atomic energy if it were not for the considerations of military uses and secrecy. Yet perhaps we should not forget to speculate sometimes on where atomic research might be today had it not played a part in the war. Before the science attained military importance, the chief research was carried out in a few university laboratories, equipped under the usual university financial limitations. Taken up as a military project, atomic research blossomed forth in its own big laboratories, with equipment built to the designs of the scientists without regard for cost. Today the Atomic Energy Commission has a number of plants, with about five thousand employes and an annual budget running well over half a billion dollars. All this would have been inconceivable without the impetus of war.

It has been said by some scientists that the discovery of atomic energy ranks in significance with the discovery of fire. If this estimate is correct, all the habits of mankind will one day be changed by it. Looking at it now, World War II seems only to have moved us out of the frying pan into the fire, but future historians may record it as an epochal event, not as a war but as the birthday of one of the greatest discoveries of all time.

When John Quincy Adams was in Russia in 1809, the Imperial Chancellor told him that the policy of his government was to support and favor the United States, "as by their relative situation the two powers could never be dangerous to each other." How the world changes!

WORLD TEACHING UNITY

Teachers from nineteen free nations met at Malta recently to discuss mutual educational problems and closer cooperation among the free nations in educating their children. Several programs for a really unified effort by forming an alliance or confederation were suggested and there was a certain amount of debate and disagreement about just what sort of organization might be most effective. Debate and free exchange of ideas are an essential part of education as well as of democracy.

The idea of some sort of coordination of the educational programs in all free countries has merit. Standards of education vary, and methods differ with the background of the children and the nature of the communities in which they live. But in all free lands there is a common desire to teach the principles of freedom and the responsibility that it entails.

The time is past when children in one country can grow up completely independent of children in another. How a child in Italy will think and act when he becomes an adult is influenced by what he learns now. His behavior when he grows up may have a great effect on the safety of children who grow up in America. Educators, realizing this, are wise to move toward world cooperation in education.

Television has great educational possibilities for the youngsters, we are told. One thing, we know, is that they have been able to pick up some fancy wrestling holds to try out on their playmates.

WEAKNESS NOT GEOGRAPHICAL

It is shocking news that eight Bradley University basketball players have now been revealed as bribe-takers.

When the sweeping bribe disclosures involving a number of New York city colleges were made last winter, little Bradley, out in Peoria, Ill., in the heart of rural America, adopted an air of sanctity. The school decided not to play again in the "unsavory atmosphere" of Madison Square Garden.

But, tragically, it appears that vulnerability to bribe offers has no special geographic limits. Nor is it exclusively a characteristic found in "city slickers."

Among life's most pleasant habits is that of being happy—and the cost is not inflated.

'These Days'

FREDERICK V. FIELD

Frederick Vanderbilt Field has come into the news as a millionaire Don Quixote, duelling the windmills of the law, in grim, determined hopelessness. His thin, youthful figure gives him the air more of a Hamlet than a Don Quixote. He rejected the disciplines of his family, his country, his God, but goes to jail for accepting the discipline of Joe Stalin.

It all seemed so unnecessary and so fruitless. Freddie used to be a gentle and lovable person, charming to a fault, gay and big-hearted. That tight mouth and fist clenched about his pipe, that fighting to be silent when his very nature should force him to speak out loud, shows what the disciplines of communism can do to a man, once he submits to its rigidities.

When I first met Freddie Field, he was not a Communist. He was a mild but very confused Norman Thomas Socialist who had come to the Far East on his honeymoon and was full of ideas on how to save the world.

In the 19th century, he would probably have become a clergyman, perhaps a missionary. In the period of Theodore Roosevelt, he might have fought the trusts or gone in for conservation. In the era of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he became a Communist, but with a bitterness, a vindictiveness hardly understandable to those who believe that boys and girls of good families could not possibly became Stalin's stooges. It is too often boys and girls of good families who make bad headlines.

Freddie's background was not unusual for a Vanderbilt. He lived in a marble palace on Fifth Avenue and in the magnificent estate, "Highlawn" in Lee, Massachusetts, near Lenox and Stockbridge.

Freddie went to Hotchkiss where he encountered the mild reformism that went in those days as socialism. After that came Harvard where he made the best clubs and the "Crimson."

Frederick Vanderbilt Field's mother was a gentle woman who managed the complicated affairs of such a household with competence and efficiency. I lived for some months of the year in the Berkshires and can say that the townspeople still remember Mrs. Field favorably.

The same cannot be said about the father. He was a curiously gross person, reactionary, selfish, over-powering. We once argued about revolutions and the Communists and the forces at work in the world. I reached the conclusion that had he lived in Germany, he would have been a Nazi.

There can be no question but that the really dominant factor in Freddie's conversion to Marxism was a revolt against his father, who did nothing but live on inherited wealth. This revolt turned to distress as his father's life became increasingly messy.

His great friendship with Joseph Barner, at college and at the Institute of Pacific Relations, ended when his first wife left him and married Barnes. To an outsider, Freddie and his first wife seemed to be perfectly mated and very attached to each other. Often the man with his fist against his own life turns to some rigid discipline as a rationalization for the causes of his bitterness.

The tragedy in Field's life is that he rebelled against the disciplines of a society he knew and understood and yet accepted the rigid disciplines of international communism, on account of which he is now in jail and likely to be for some time. It is this Communist discipline which forces him to lie by silence.

It is difficult to understand what pressures, intellectual or otherwise, the Communists can force upon such a person that will drive him to the extremities which Field is obviously pursuing. What urgencies are employed? What power do they exercise over him? What fears, what hopes do they engender?

I do not know.

I was discussing this situation the other day with a man who was Field's friend at Harvard. They were both on the "Crimson" and both belonged to the same clubs. They had been quite close. This man, no more than I, could visualize the Freddie Field we knew, all mixed up in the silliness of refusing to answer because Communist discipline required him not to answer.

Yet, we know that Larry Duggan went to his death, by suicide or was pushed out of a window, because of the same discipline. And we know of Whittaker Chambers's fears and of Alger Hiss's curious conduct.

The long arm of the Kremlin reaches far and plucks at all kinds and classes of persons, its horrible work to perform.

FATIGUE AND ALLERGY

Physicians are finding that while pain stands first as cause for consulting a physician, fatigue (tiredness) is now a leading reason for visits to, or from, the physician. The whole world seems to be tired.

In Annals of Allergy, Dr. M. G. Mayer, Michigan City, Indiana, states that three per cent of all new patients seen over a year's period offered fatigue as their sole reason for seeking medical attention. It was found that those who showed allergic tendencies seemed more likely to develop fatigue, and investigation of these cases from the standpoint of allergy was thoroughly made.

"Surprising results were obtained when the offending factor or substances, generally foods, were omitted or removed," writes Dr. Mayer. "Forty-eight per cent became well of fatigue in the group with organic disease not deemed sufficient to cause fatigue symptoms, and 60 per cent became well of fatigue in the group in whom no organic disease was found." Thus Dr. Mayer points out that allergy and physical and mental effort may work together in causing the entire nervous and muscular system to become fatigued. In his experience, it is impossible to find intelligent individuals who possess complete nervous equilibrium or balance—yet not all complain of fatigue.

Physicians have long known that allergy is more prevalent among schoolteachers than among any other one group. And those well acquainted with the duties of teachers are the first to agree that it is a most exhausting profession and that schoolteachers as a class deserve and need the lengthy summer holidays granted them. In order to keep their students alert and awake to absorb what they are teaching, teachers have to keep themselves keyed up. This alertness causes tenseness of nerves and muscles and tenseness for twenty minutes or half hour is exhausting.

If, added to this tenseness which tires, there is added allergy to various everyday substances, it is easily understood why school teachers and others naturally suffer with fatigue.

When undue fatigue is present, search for allergy should be made and removed if possible, as the above figures presented by Dr. Mayer tell their own story.

"Whaddya Mean 'Peace,' Suh?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman has sent a confidential memo to all cabinet officers ordering them to clear their out-of-town appearances with Democratic National Chairman Bill Boyle. Some folks consider this a tip that HST plans to run again, since this is the first time he has sent formal political instructions to his cabinet. Anyway here is the confidential letter:

"Mr. Boyle, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made a suggestion to me which I think is worthwhile. He would like very much to be notified when cabinet officers, secretaries and undersecretaries go into any community outside of Washington for the purpose of making a speech, so he can arrange a proper reception for them when they get into town.

"He thinks that would not only help their prestige in the community, but would give our local leaders a chance to be in the limelight to some extent, and that is a very necessary procedure in a political organization.

"I'll appreciate it very much if this procedure can be followed," the President concluded in what amounts to a polite, but positive order.

Free Fishing Trip

If it's hot in Washington and you are high enough up in the Pentagon, it's fairly easy to go fishing in cool, far-off Newfoundland. Or at least Assistant Secretary of the Army Earl D. Johnson found this to be so the other day.

Mr. Johnson has the excuse that his mobilization assignment is with MATS, the air transport agency of the armed services, so he slips away for flights with MATS from time to time. Accordingly last July 10 found him on a hospital plane from Westover, Mass., flying to the air base at Stephensville, Newfoundland.

The hospital plane is equipped with stretchers for flying wounded out of Korea, and just what it was doing on the run to Europe in not known.

Arriving at Stephensville, Assistant Secretary Johnson was entertained by the commanding officer, Col. Clayton Hughes. Another colonel, Andrew Cannon, a MATS transport group commander, whose headquarters is Kelly Air Base, Texas, also had some time to kill in the cool of Newfoundland, so the three cooked up a fishing trip.

An air force helicopter, normally used for air rescue operations, was on hand, and Col. Hughes arranged to give Assistant Secretary Johnson a demonstration. The rescue demonstration featured a flight to a salmon stream where they attempted to rescue some salmon.

Assistant Secretary Johnson, when queried about the incident, explained that he also made a helicopter inspection of the air force's installations, but admitted he spent most of the time fishing—about six hours.

"However," he added a little ruefully, "I didn't catch any fish."

Congressional Grandparents

Three-month-old Kristie Lynn Cavalcante of Uniontown, Pa., whose two grandfathers served in the House of Representatives at the same time, will add a grandmother to the congressional list when Congresswoman-elect Vera Buchanan of Pennsylvania is sworn in this week.

Kristie Lynn is the granddaughter of Mrs. Buchanan and the late Rep. Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania. After her husband's death this year, Mrs. Buchanan was elected to his seat in a special election.

Kristie Lynn also is the granddaughter of former Rep. Tony Cavalcante of Pennsylvania, who was a colleague of Buchanan for one term in the House. Some day her dad, William Cavalcante, a Uniontown law student, hopes to succeed his father in Congress.

If this happens Kristie Lynn really will have something to brag about—three grandparents and one father in Congress.

Communism in Arab World

Though it was known that an agent of the ex-Grand Mufti of Jerusalem assassinated King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, it is not generally known that the Grand Mufti, having been Hitler's paid agent in the Near East, has now taken over the same job for Moscow.

The Mufti has turned up at various Pan-Islamic meetings throughout the Middle East as the tool of Moscow and stager of revolt against the west. And to show that Moscow is the great friend of the Arab world, the Mufti has been given the job of establishing an Arab university in Communist Warsaw.

Furthermore it is now beginning to look as if the Grand Mufti and his agents were behind the agitation against the British in Egypt, the assassination of the late pro-British premier of Iran and the murder of other leaders friendly to the West.

One significant aspect of the Mufti's operations is the way the Nazis and the Communists not only are using the same tactics, but bet their money on the same man. During the war, Hitler and Mussolini paid the Mufti nearly half a million dollars. And on April 5, 1945, just one month before the war ended, the Nazis signed a contract with him to continue stirring up trouble in the Near East.

Though Hitler killed himself soon afterward, the Mufti is certainly carrying out his part of the bargain.

Cigarettes for Germans

Careful scrutiny of the law governing Marshall Plan aid shows that it's full of sleepers, designed to aid private interests in this country as much as the needy people of Europe.

For example, the law provides ECA dollars to buy tobacco for Germany, but stipulates that the tobacco must be purchased in the United States. This is a $45,000,000 windfall for U. S. tobacco interests at the U. S. taxpayers' expense. For the taxpayers are already subsidizing over $30,000,000 of Greek tobacco which is rotting in Greek warehouses.

The Germans used to buy most of Greece's tobacco crop. Now that Germany is forced to buy American tobacco, however, the taxpayers not only furnish the money for the tobacco Germany buys but also pays for the Greek tobacco crop which Germany does not buy. In other words, the taxpayers put out approximately $75,000,000 per year, so that American tobacco interests can sell $45,000,000 worth of tobacco to Germany.

Note — Largest exporters of ECA tobacco to Germany are L. B. Jenkins of Kinston, N. C., J. E. Bohannon of Bolling Green, Ky., Universal Leaf of Richmond, Va., and Austin Tobacco Co. of Greenville, Tenn.

Burros for Realism

New York, (AP)—At the 12,000 acre Ten Mile River Scout Camps in Narrowsburg, N. Y., 100 miles from here, 43 burros have been imported from Texas to help Boy Scouts learn the skills of the "wide open spaces." Only 42 burros left Texas, but an addition was born enroute. Boys attending the camps will be taught proper trail packing methods and how to tie a real "diamond hitch." All in all, the imported burros are expected to bring the old west right up close for New York scouts this summer.

Reds Have More to Gain Than Lose by Accepting UN Proposal for Line

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 3—The Communists have every reason to accept the United Nations proposal for a defense line marked by the present position of the military forces in Korea. Logically, the Reds have so much more to gain than to lose by agreeing to it that they can well afford to give the U.N. something to "save face."

For if the 38th Parallel isn't the exact armistice line and a zone a few miles north of it is established as a basis for the cease-fire, the U.N. can say that it achieved something beyond what South Korea had when the aggression started more than a year ago. Since the United States and the U.N. have announced that the original purpose—to repel aggression at the 38th Parallel — has been achieved already, the allies cannot make much of an issue or resume fighting just because of a disagreement on the Armistice line.

The Reds, on the other hand, would be acquiring undisputed possession for the indefinite future of virtually all of North Korea. This is the biggest stake of all, for which they gladly would terminate the fighting now, knowing that by so doing they keep the U.N. forces bogged down in Korea for years to come.

From a propaganda standpoint, the Communists benefit a great deal, too. For they know full well the U.N. troops will not be withdrawn, because there is no guarantee in sight or likely to be given that would assure against a recurrence of aggression at any moment. The demand that there be a withdrawal will, however, be repeated by the Communists at frequent intervals and the U.N. will be exhibited in propaganda as occupying Korea allegedly against the will of the inhabitants.

The allies have fallen into the Communist trap on the negotiating tactics. By insisting that all "political questions" be excluded from the armistice negotiations, a cessation of hostilities is brought about without settling the real matters of substance—the establishment of peace throughout Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign troops. Knowing in advance the U.N. attitude, the Communists have tried adroitly to insert these two main political issues in the armistice negotiations, no doubt expecting rejection. The U.N. representatives have gone on record, upon instructions from the home governments, as refusing to discuss these issues.

If this goal—a cease-fire around the 38th Parallel and without a political settlement—was what the UN really wanted all the time, then the record will show the same thing might have been obtained on March 24 last when General MacArthur offered to arrange with the enemy field commanders a cease-fire without discussing any political questions. The American government and the UN failed to back up the MacArthur proposal. The general was never told at the time that the President or the United Nations had decided to negotiate on this or any other basis. Inaccurate statements have been made in the press that the general was so informed and that he knew negotiations had begun, but the verbatim record of the Senate hearings reveals that both General Collins and Secretary Acheson testified flatly that the Far Eastern commander was never given any such word.

What did happen was that the American government immediately repudiated in public General MacArthur's overture broadcast to the enemy commander as a piece of psychological warfare.

The excuse given in Washington for failing to indorse the MacArthur move was that his message to the Communist commander had in it a few phrases saying the UN threatened to expand the war. It did draw the attention to the weak position of the enemy and stated that if the United Nations decided to carry the war to the enemy bases, the Reds wouldn't have a chance for victory. The enemy had not been using pussyfoot language in its broadcasts either, and probably were not offended by MacArthur's words. It is incredible that the phrase describing the more advantageous UN military position last March could have been the actual basis for the refusal of the Reds to consider what he offered them.

The real reason undoubtedly was that the Communists did not think at that time that the UN would arrange a cease-fire between enemy commanders and leave North Korea in the hands of the Communists, which for all practical purposes it will be. Naturally, after the dismissal of MacArthur and the public statements of our officials that military means would not be used to seek pacification of all Korea, the Reds, through Malik, jumped at the chance to get what they are getting now—a cease-fire without a political settlement.

Once the fighting stops, the Reds know the UN will not resume hostilities just to gain possession of North Korea. The Communists are back about where they started from in June, 1950, and have subjected the United States to a terrific expense, a dislocation of its military forces in the world and the loss of 80,000 casualties. And it remains to be seen whether Communist aggression has been repelled in Korea or elsewhere in the world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 2—The investigation of the so-called reserve clause of the standard baseball contract is a cheese-cake exploit by a group of congressmen who would be better employed counting paper-clips, a work of equal public importance but greater dignity. Baseball is an athletic game and a sport, but it is nevertheless an industry and there is no reason why this particular industry should have the benefit of a special clause in the anti-trust law to let it operate a monopolistic scheme. The confirmation of this exemption as a special privilege of baseball is the purpose of the present frivolity.

My personal sentiments toward baseball are affectionate, but so are my sentiments toward journalism and I note that we had an anti-trust case in our profession a few years ago and lost it but have been forging upward and onward to finer things, nevertheless. True, we kicked and squalled and carried on, but I kept thinking that the free press was not the material properties of soulless corporatons, whose thrift is ever forward in my pleas, but the right to put facts and ideas on paper. It seemed to me that this right was not disparaged by the surly allegations of the D of J and though my cheek blanched and the world swam before my eyes at the meanness of our gov't toward a noble institution, I kept whispering "the wrong shall fail; the right prevail" and so they have, respectively.

It does no harm to let the people dream that they own baseball and that it is a national treasure like Gene Tunney or the Fourth of July. But the magnates are practical men who would bring you up short if you should try to assert some proprietary right. Although amateurs play baseball, diminuendo, I regret to say, in college in the schools and on the lots, the rules are made by the industry and are altered in fine detail from time to time by commercial operators for their own ends. ENIGMATIC STOCK PRICES

By Harry C. France

Dollar deterioration and capital gains taxes today are important economic forces influencing stock prices. Frequently these two forces are tied together, freezing sales that in normal times would be made.

To illustrate: ten years ago an investor bought 500 shares of Socony-Vacuum at $10 a share. It was paying 50 cents a share a year at the time. Since those Pearl Harbor days a lot of inflation has settled down permanently in the national economy.

Socony's dividend, from growth and inflation, has increased about 300 per cent. The shares have advanced 300 per cent also. In the meantime the investor has been fully conscious that his living costs have gone up. The dollar's declining purchasing power has influenced many of his decisions.

If he sells his shares, he will have $11,000 capital gains and 25 per cent of these, at least, would go to the tax collector. Then, too, yearly dividends of around $750 on an original investment of $5,000 would be surrendered. So, one can clearly see that here are 500 shares of stock that inflation and taxes are withholding from the sales markets.

Economic and political trends throughout the civilized world are accentuating these powerful inflationary and deflationary forces. America is the key country in the free world. We are spending billions of dollars annually to stem the tide of communism.

And in doing this our unit of currency—the dollar—is steadily weakening. At the same time tax schedules are enlarged in the effort to pay the gigantic bills.

The higher stock prices go and the greater the tax burdens, the surer it will be that millions of shares of stocks will not be offered for sale in the markets. It represents a dangerous situation.

Almost every day, I hear this: "I can't afford to sell the shares. If I should take the profit, what would I do with the money after paying taxes and where would my future income come from?"

The stock market today is resting on many artificial bases. That is what is making price forecasting so very difficult. The best calculations, I think, can be completely upset by bullish or bearish psychology. Charting earnings and dividends and prognosticating stock prices is one thing.

Predicting what tax-conscious, dollar-suspicious and short-selling speculators and investors will do is another matter. And it is my firm conviction that psychology is a prime factor in determining stock prices. There are billions of nervous dollars in the hands of the public.

Here, for example, is an American who went off the deep end the other day when he read about an official in the State Department at Washington. He sold $50,000 of savings bonds all because of a political statement that he hated.

Well, in America today there are economic and political forces of a hundred different shades and characters. And any of them may set in motion powers that will shake the economic world.

The governmental floating debt is around 60 billions of dollars! Suppose, tomorrow, on top of the deteriorating-dollar, capital-gains tax situation that is freezing stock sales, an avalanche of bond selling hit the country.

And these dollars should go into stocks! Well, America had a 16 million share sales day in October, 1929.

Today the country is all set for the very reverse of that day. When a government bond paying $27.50 a year costs $1,090, is it unreasonable to predict that one of these days many, many people who can buy 10 shares of a good stock for $500 that pays $40 a year in dividends, will get on their buying and selling clothes?

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 2—Mr. and Mrs. John Olsen of Brooklyn are spending two weeks at the Pheasant Inn. The couple have been coming to Shokan for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Ernest Eckert of Olive Bridge returned home Monday from a trip to Endicott where she spent two weeks with her brother, Grant Beesmer. Mrs. Eckert had a birthday July 25. She is the former Janie Beesmer of Samsonville village.

Mrs. Henry Winnsborrow, who died July 15 at Riverhead, and her husband resided in the lower village for a time after buying the Winnie house near the Ashokan school house.

Mrs. Howard Richards and small son are at their summer home, formerly the residence of Emily Hansen. The house recently was improved by the addition of electric facilities and modern plumbing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca and son, Vincent, were callers Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Loughran in Old Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Saxon and daughters Margie and Linda, of Poughkeepsie, spent several days last week with Joe's mother, Mrs. Reynolds Bishop. The former Ashokan resident, a War 2 veteran, is employed at the IBM plant. Mrs. Bishop, who first came here in 1921, is having a birthday Thursday, Aug. 2. She conducted several tea rooms in this section, later removing to North Pelham where she and her husband were in the real estate business. They bought the Charles Giles property and returned to Shokan in March, 1950.

Big truck cargoes of empty bushel baskets going up the Onteora Trail and loads of filled ones coming down, had the locals guessing for a while. One observer however has deduced that these are cauliflower shipments, the great Delaware county moneymaker next to milk, and the basket innovation results from a war time shortage of wooden crates.

Mrs. Edward Leyder and daughter Anna were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gebelein. The Leyder family, who resided on the present Lukacs place here, removed to Quarryville about 10 years ago.

Ulster County Is Well Represented With Prize Cattle

A preview of what may be expected in Holsteins at county fairs this summer was shown Saturday at the USO black and white show at Goshen, when 57 exhibitors from Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties, comprising the USO Holstein Club, showed 115 head of purebred Holsteins. It was the club's first black and white show, and one of the largest groups of Holsteins ever gathered from such a large number of owners for showing purposes in southeastern New York.

Taking honors at Goshen were Ridgely Farms of Stone Ridge, owned by Mrs. Frances H. Leggett. Nuway Nancy Rag Apple, a seven-year-old Holstein was judged first in the aged female class, and declared grand champion female. Ridgely Farms also owned the reserve champion female, a flashy senior yearling.

Other Ulster Winners

Other Ulster county winners were the Rondout Bull Association of Accord with their yearling bull taking first place animal in his class. A senior calf owned by 11-year-old Robert Kelder, Jr., of Stone Ridge ranked fourth in her class. Robert had the distinction of being one of the youngest exhibitors with an animal ranking high against the farmers' showing.

Ridgely Farms placed for a third time with the reserve champion male, a second place senior calf, and a grand champion cow in the best uddered class. P. M. Baird and sons of Chester held firsts in the two group classes: Produce of Dam, and Get of Sire. They also took first place animal in the three-year-old class.

Crowd Attended

A large crowd gathered to watch show proceedings at the former Harriman Stud Farm, now a part of Orange County Community College. Cattle, which were drenched by heavy rains, were often at a disadvantage. Judging however, was carried out under a shed, where most of the spectators managed to stay dry.

During the show Philip Davis of Kerhonkson conducted a judging contest. Prizes were donated by the Rondout Local of Dairymen's League, the Kerhonkson National Bank, Peter Saturno and W. P. Shwart and Co.

Judging the show, which was held last Saturday, was George W. Trimberger, professor of dairy husbandry at Cornell University. Later in the summer he will judge at the Kentucky and Illinois state fairs. He will also serve as superintendent of cattle at the New York state fair in September.

Show chairman was Dan Barnhart of Stone Ridge. Other committee members were Leonard Baird, Phil Rahl, John Gerow and John Winter. Frank Kelder of Accord, president of the club, served as ex-officia member.

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., August 3—The season is now far enough advanced to make a fair estimate of the U. S. crops for 1951. Hence, I have been busy this past week getting necessary data to make an intelligent forecast.

Statistics show that more acreage has been planted this year than at any time since 1933. Ordinarily, due to the crops now in storage, the Federal Government would have demanded reduced acreage for most products. Due, however, to the Korean situation, all farmers were given the green light with no restrictions.

Owing to the increased use of farm machinery with modern methods of furrowing and draining, farmers are raising more crops per acre. This is especially true where farmers are using fertilizers and carefully selected seeds. Selected seed—especially in the case of corn—is a revolutionary step. (Modern methods of selecting laying hens are largely responsible for the surplus of eggs.)

What Statistics Indicate

As a result of all these favorable factors, I forecast a corn crop of about 3,300,000,000 bushels which would be the third largest in U. S. history. The wheat crop I estimate will be about 1,100,000,000 bushels which should be the largest ever harvested.

Oats should be about the same as last year—namely, 1,400,000,000 bushels; barley should harvest about 265,000,000 bushels, a little more than last year; rye should harvest 26,000,000 bushels, or more than last year. Hay cut this year should be 115,000,000 tons which would be 8,000,000 tons more than last year.

Fewer Potatoes Expected

The Government has discouraged potato growing with the result that the forecast is for only 350,000,000 bushels compared with 439,500,000 bushels last year. This means that not so many will be destroyed. Tobacco, however, is up, the forecast being 2,300,000,000 pounds compared with 2,000,000,000 pounds last year.

As to miscellaneous crops, it looks as if sugar beets and flaxseed would be less, but the rice crop should be larger. Beans, hops, peas, tomatoes and cabbage should yield about the same. The quick-freezing process, however, should ultimately help peas, beans and tomatoes.

Good Fruit Year

Present indications are that citrus fruits in Florida will have a good season due to plenty of rain. The demand for citrus is constantly increasing due to the quality and advertising of the concentrated quick-frozen juices. Recent crop failures in California and Texas should keep down total national production and hold prices up.

The peach crop is estimated at 67,000,000 bushels compared with 65,500,000 last year; pears 32,000,000 compared with 31,000,000 last year; while about the same amount of cherries, apricots and lemons may be expecteed. The apple crop should continue good, about as last year; around 122,000,000 bushels; while grapes are running ahead of last year. The hope for both of these staple fruits rests with canning the juices.

What About Prices?

As to prices, wheat now is about $2.29 per bushel same as a year ago; corn is $1.77 compared with $1.56 a year ago; beef sides are .59 per pound compared with .53 a year ago; work is .53 compared with .66 a year ago; granulated sugar is .088 compared with .081 a year ago; coffee is .53 compared with .56 a year ago; cotton is .38 compared with .39 a year ago; wool tops are $2.57 compared with $2.15 a year ago; while K. C. hides are .37 compared with .27 a year ago.

In closing let me say something about the Kansas City flood. I know Kansas City, being part owner of forty high-grade drug stores there. But note this fact:—If this flood had happened twenty years ago it would have done very little damage as the land had not been built upon. Kansas had experienced a long period of dry years and real estate promoters said, "'Tain't going to rain no more." Thereupon a great building boom developed on this low land. But they were wrong. Moral: Man has not yet controlled the weather. After a long series of dry crop years, wet years are sure to follow, and after we have good rains, as has been the case since 1933, dry years are sure to follow.

Nelson, Nebr., (AP)—The tumbling tumbleweed has nothing on three-year-old Nancy Adamson of Nelson. Building Drops Off During July

Estimated cost for new building and alterations in the city for July based on permits issued by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was $77,936 under the June total, the completed report showed today.

The total last month was $76,340 as compared to $154,276 in June.

The total for new dwellings last month was $45,800, and $10,700 for new non-residential structures.

The total for 10 permits for alterations, additions and repairs to residential structures was $3,035 and for the same on non-residential buildings, $14,500. The total for 11 permits for oil tanks and burners was $2,305.

ENIGMATIC STOCK PRICES

By Harry C. France

Dollar deterioration and capital gains taxes today are important economic forces influencing stock prices. Frequently these two forces are tied together, freezing sales that in normal times would be made.

To illustrate: ten years ago an investor bought 500 shares of Socony-Vacuum at $10 a share. It was paying 50 cents a share a year at the time. Since those Pearl Harbor days a lot of inflation has settled down permanently in the national economy.

Socony's dividend, from growth and inflation, has increased about 300 per cent. The shares have advanced 300 per cent also. In the meantime the investor has been fully conscious that his living costs have gone up. The dollar's declining purchasing power has influenced many of his decisions.

If he sells his shares, he will have $11,000 capital gains and 25 per cent of these, at least, would go to the tax collector. Then, too, yearly dividends of around $750 on an original investment of $5,000 would be surrendered. So, one can clearly see that here are 500 shares of stock that inflation and taxes are withholding from the sales markets.

Economic and political trends throughout the civilized world are accentuating these powerful inflationary and deflationary forces. America is the key country in the free world. We are spending billions of dollars annually to stem the tide of communism.

And in doing this our unit of currency—the dollar—is steadily weakening. At the same time tax schedules are enlarged in the effort to pay the gigantic bills.

The higher stock prices go and the greater the tax burdens, the surer it will be that millions of shares of stocks will not be offered for sale in the markets. It represents a dangerous situation.

Almost every day, I hear this: "I can't afford to sell the shares. If I should take the profit, what would I do with the money after paying taxes and where would my future income come from?"

The stock market today is resting on many artificial bases. That is what is making price forecasting so very difficult. The best calculations, I think, can be completely upset by bullish or bearish psychology. Charting earnings and dividends and prognosticating stock prices is one thing.

Predicting what tax-conscious, dollar-suspicious and short-selling speculators and investors will do is another matter. And it is my firm conviction that psychology is a prime factor in determining stock prices. There are billions of nervous dollars in the hands of the public.

Here, for example, is an American who went off the deep end the other day when he read about an official in the State Department at Washington. He sold $50,000 of savings bonds all because of a political statement that he hated.

Well, in America today there are economic and political forces of a hundred different shades and characters. And any of them may set in motion powers that will shake the economic world.

The governmental floating debt is around 60 billions of dollars! Suppose, tomorrow, on top of the deteriorating-dollar, capital-gains tax situation that is freezing stock sales, an avalanche of bond selling hit the country.

And these dollars should go into stocks! Well, America had a 16 million share sales day in October, 1929.

Today the country is all set for the very reverse of that day. When a government bond paying $27.50 a year costs $1,090, is it unreasonable to predict that one of these days many, many people who can buy 10 shares of a good stock for $500 that pays $40 a year in dividends, will get on their buying and selling clothes?

"PIEL'S is the BEER for me— DRY as a beer can be!"

LOOK UP "DRY" in the dictionary. It means "lacking sweetness." And in beer, dryness depends upon the absence of N.F.S. (non-fermented sugar) after brewing is completed.

Repeated independent laboratory tests have shown that Piel's beer contained almost no N.F.S....that Piel's is truly as "dry as a beer can be."

Tonight, look up Piel's at your favorite store or tavern. Discover how Piel's slower, costlier brewing means a beer more dry, more satisfying, always.

Less N.F.S.
(NON-FERMENTED SUGAR)
means a drier, more satisfying flavor!

HERE'S PROOF THAT SLOWER, COSTLIER BREWING MAKES PIEL'S "DRY AS A BEER CAN BE"

Beer can contain as much as one heaping teaspoonful of non-fermented sugar (N.F.S.) to a single bottle.

Yet here is the actual amount of sugar found in a bottle of Piel's. You can hardly see it—much less taste it!

APPLE GRADES
Notice of Hearing
On Proposed Changes

Official New York State Grades for the packing and sale of apples were promulgated September 28, 1937 and went into effect October 15, 1937.

In this Act of the Legislature, it was implied that these state grades were intended to be kept in line with the U. S. Grades for Apples promulgated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. To this end, the New York State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets was given authority to change the state grades from time to time as seemed necessary.

Recent changes in the U. S. Grades now make it necessary to change the state grades so they will not be lower in their provisions than the present Federal grades.

It is, therefore, proposed that the U. S. Standards for Apples, effective July 23, 1951, be adopted with the exception of "Unclassified."

Comment on proposed changes in both the grades and rules and regulations will be welcome and may be submitted in writing any time prior to August 13, 1951, or may be submitted in person at a public hearing which will be held on the above date to give all interested persons an opportunity to be heard before changes are put into effect.

This hearing will be held at the office of the State Department of Agriculture, (20th floor of the Alfred E. Smith State Office Building), at 2:00 p. m., D.S.T., on August 13, 1951.

C. CHESTER DU MOND
Commissioner of

CONTINENTAL BREAKFAST is blueberry sauce over plain, dark bread and Switzerland cheese.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A new idea for breakfast. Serve it Continental style with giant cultivated berries from New Jersey and Michigan, Switzerland Swiss cheese and thinly sliced dark brown bread. Sound different? Try it and you'll find that it tastes just as good.

Blueberry Sauce
(6 servings)

One pint large cultivated blueberries, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup water.

Wash and drain blueberries. Place in sauce pan with sugar and water. Bring to a full boil, shaking pan occasionally to prevent sticking. Reduce temperature and simmer 10 minutes. Strain. Return juice to high heat and cook until thick and syrupy, stirring well, about 6 minutes. Pour over cooked berries. Cool. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

Sour cherries are plentiful this season. The New York State Extension service prepared this recipe.

Sour Cherry Pie

Three cups fresh, pitted sour cherries, 2/3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/6 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, and pastry for one 9-inch pie. You can substitute 2 tablespoons flour or 2¼ teaspoons of quick-cooking tapioca for the cornstarch. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Sprinkle mixture over cherries and stir gently until they are well coated.

Pour cherries into the pie crust and dot with butter. Cover with a top crust in which you have made slits for the steam to escape. Bake pie at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Then lower the temperature to 350 degrees F. and bake for 20 minutes. This recipe yields 1 pie (9-inch).

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: "Dutch Treat" breakfast—thin slices of dark bread, slices of Swiss cheese and sauce of giant cultivated blueberries, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Chicken bouillon (made with cubes), crackers, stuffed eggs, lettuce, sliced tomatoes and radishes, orange cup cakes, tea, milk.

As Pegler Sees It

old illiterates of the World-Series press coops used to call strategy and psychology. Landis liked baseball, knew it didn't have a prayer in court under law and was not indifferent to the dignity and power and the pay.

The reserve clause is a yellow-dog clause whereby the athlete, in his first contract, conveys to the hiring corporation, its heirs and assigns for ten years hence, the sole right to his services at the employers price. Forsaking all others, he yields by this indenture true allegiance to the "exhibition company" and may be sold for money or swapped for a bird-dog with a chronic head-cold to any other firm from Calexico to Brooklyn. In theory he must accept whatever wage the corporation offers after his first term of employment has expired, but actually this condition has been moderated by personal relations between the player and the front office and by the improvement of the average player's intelligence. Nowadays he can "bargain" and the club is unlikely to whisper him out as a "radical" or "agitator" in unwritten collusion with the rest of the industry and set him adrift in the Carolinas or Dakotas or the Yankee hamlets with his glove, shoes and intimate professional lingerie all in a paper grocery bag.

Baseball is waning, notwithstanding the furor of the current season in the American League and the strong theatrical power of the Brooklyn club. Young college men good enough to hold jobs with the lower minors, are apathetic toward the pay and the uncertain prospects offered by leagues which collapse in mid-season. Some even reject major league invitations or take brief whirls and, when sold down the river, go back home to resume life before too much time is lost. The food and lodgings in the minors are not enticing even to the kind of player who formerly couldn't resist the glamorous life of the Western League or Three-Eye or the Sally with train-rides, free, and nothing to do but play ball. The amateur game once crowded the Monday sport pages with week-end results and mid-week "challenges" and a team with "suits" was a cut above a team without and always specified "siuts" in its defi, wisely accompanied by 50 cents for the assistant sport editor, lest it got swept off the desk and lost. This traffic has vanished and with it a source of income which I trust the Guild has taken measures to replace. The cost of putting a dozen players on the field in "suits" is more than $1,000.

The yellow-dog clause forbade a worker in industry to join a union or to authorize any one but himself to bargain for him, failing which he would be blacklisted throughout the industry. This was held to be a scheme of Satan, but instead of abolishing it the Wagner Act simply put the worker in the same bondage to the union. Baseball earlier bound a man for life but reduced the term to ten years in response to shrill agitation by the bleeding hearts of the press coop, including me. Now the player can demand his unconditional release after ten years continuously in the majors and sell himself on the roof to whomsoever if any.

The statesman would obliterate this fine-print are in trickry business, however. For it is the cap-sheaf, the tap-root and the foundation stone of the CIO and the American Federation of Labor.

In the wee hours of the morning when all the tournament players are asleep and dreaming of grand slams, the cleaning staff gets busy on the floor of the tournament room. I wonder whether they find all the tricks that were dropped there during the day.

It's a cinch that lots of tricks get dropped even by the experts. For example there was the famous grand slam played in the national tournament of 1948 by Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta.

Mrs. Wagar's jump to four spades on the South hand usually shows a far stronger hand. Her partner, John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia, thought that she had the usual strong hand and decided that there would be tricks to burn at a grand slam contract. There weren't.

West opened a low trump, and Mrs. Wagar won in her own hand. With seven diamonds out, there was no way for the suit to provide more than three discards. That would be enough to take care of one club and two hearts—but declarer would still have a losing heart.

All this went through Mrs. Wagar's mind in about one second flat. Then she led the queen of hearts from her hand.

It wasn't a true finesse, of course. If West had covered with the king of hearts South would have been right back where she started. But West had to decide on a course of action in a split second. He played low, hoping that declarer would not stake the grand slam on a finesse at the second trick.

West's play dropped a very heavy trick on the floor, since the grand slam depended on it. The queen of hearts held the trick, and now there were several different ways to make 13 tricks.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-3-2, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond 4, Clubs 9-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. This is not a slam try, but merely an indication that you prefer game at spades to game at no-trump. There is greater safety in your strong six-card major suit, especially in view of your singleton.

Today's Question

The bidding has been the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond 4, Clubs K-6-3. What do you do?

Answer Tomorrow

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a most interesting letter from Myron Teller. He wrote it on the Romer & Tremper Steamboat Co. letterhead of which he was treasurer. In those days when the old line was in action they certainly went in for original letterheads. The pilot's wheel is there, on either side of which is a 'throw-away' sheet of the schedule of the Albany, Newburgh & Troy Lines and the New York Lines. The Jacob H. Tremper and the Milton Martin were with the Albany, Newburgh and Troy lines and they made all landings according to this letterhead. The James W. Baldwin, and the William F. Romer were steamers of the New York Line. "Connecting at Rondout with the Ulster and Delaware R.R. for all Catskill Mt. Points." At the time, Jacob H. Tremper, was president of the line, and B. Morss Tremper was the vice president. But you have to see this letter-head to appreciate how they condensed all this information into an interesting and nautical design. I wonder if anyone made collections of old local letterheads. I bet that would be an interesting hobby.

In one of my recent items I wrote George B. Merritt & Co. had their store one door north of St. John's Church, on Wall street." This was taken from advertisement in the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal of Thursday, April 22, 1886. Mr. Teller says that he recalls up to the time the St. John's Church was moved to Albany avenue, Merritt's store (was burned) later taken over by Cohen Brothers, now Flanagans, as Mr. Teller designed the new front and other alterations after the fire. After that store, the second store belonged to Dodges Candy and Ice Cream firm. Then came T. D. Lewis's photography gallery and then came Noah Wolven's Dry Goods Store which was operated after he died. Then came St. John's Church. Mr. Teller's information is usually accurate. I leave this in the hands of my readers, as personally I do not remember, and took the item from the old newspaper advertisement. Of course, an old photograph of Wall street postal card, of perhaps St. John's Church may answer this question. Would be glad to hear from my readers.

For instance from that same newspaper I quote a J. S. Payntar advertisement. They give their address as 32 Wall street, but as I understand Wall street numbers were switched around. I think Mr. Bernstein once explained it to me. Mr. Payntar at the time was moving into his Wall street store on the coming May first. He said he had a complete line of harness, trunks, satchels, summer horse clothing, lap robes, etc., which he would sell at bottom cash prices. He also says: "I shall continue as before to keep my branch store, Hasbrouck avenue, Rondout, well stocked, and sell cheaper than the cheapest ... Important ... Remember, I have four first class harness makers employed manufacturing my own harness, and not offering inferior factory work to the public." I wonder what he would think of modern mass production methods. They were craftsmen in those days.

APPLE GRADES
Notice of Hearing
On Proposed Changes

Official New York State Grades for the packing and sale of apples were promulgated September 28, 1937 and went into effect October 15, 1937.

In this Act of the Legislature, it was implied that these state grades were intended to be kept in line with the U. S. Grades for Apples promulgated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. To this end, the New York State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets was given authority to change the state grades from time to time as seemed necessary.

Recent changes in the U. S. Grades now make it necessary to change the state grades so they will not be lower in their provisions than the present Federal grades.

It is, therefore, proposed that the U. S. Standards for Apples, effective July 23, 1951, be adopted with the exception of "Unclassified."

Comment on proposed changes in both the grades and rules and regulations will be welcome and may be submitted in writing any time prior to August 13, 1951, or may be submitted in person at a public hearing which will be held on the above date to give all interested persons an opportunity to be heard before changes are put into effect.

This hearing will be held at the office of the State Department of Agriculture, (20th floor of the Alfred E. Smith State Office Building), at 2:00 p. m., D.S.T., on August 13, 1951.

CONTINENTAL BREAKFAST is blueberry sauce over plain, dark bread and Switzerland cheese.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A new idea for breakfast. Serve it Continental style with giant cultivated berries from New Jersey and Michigan, Switzerland Swiss cheese and thinly sliced dark brown bread. Sound different? Try it and you'll find that it tastes just as good.

Blueberry Sauce
(6 servings)

One pint large cultivated blueberries, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup water.

Wash and drain blueberries. Place in sauce pan with sugar and water. Bring to a full boil, shaking pan occasionally to prevent sticking. Reduce temperature and simmer 10 minutes. Strain. Return juice to high heat and cook until thick and syrupy, stirring well, about 6 minutes. Pour over cooked berries. Cool. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

Sour cherries are plentiful this season. The New York State Extension service prepared this recipe.

Sour Cherry Pie

Three cups fresh, pitted sour cherries, 2/3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/6 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, and pastry for one 9-inch pie. You can substitute 2 tablespoons flour or 2¼ teaspoons of quick-cooking tapioca for the cornstarch. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Sprinkle mixture over cherries and stir gently until they are well coated.

Pour cherries into the pie crust and dot with butter. Cover with a top crust in which you have made slits for the steam to escape. Bake pie at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Then lower the temperature to 350 degrees F. and bake for 20 minutes. This recipe yields 1 pie (9-inch).

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: "Dutch Treat" breakfast—thin slices of dark bread, slices of Swiss cheese and sauce of giant cultivated blueberries, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Chicken bouillon (made with cubes), crackers, stuffed eggs, lettuce, sliced tomatoes and radishes, orange cup cakes, tea, milk.

As Pegler Sees It

old illiterates of the World-Series press coops used to call strategy and psychology. Landis liked baseball, knew it didn't have a prayer in court under law and was not indifferent to the dignity and power and the pay.

The reserve clause is a yellow-dog clause whereby the athlete, in his first contract, conveys to the hiring corporation, its heirs and assigns for ten years hence, the sole right to his services at the employers price. Forsaking all others, he yields by this indenture true allegiance to the "exhibition company" and may be sold for money or swapped for a bird-dog with a chronic head-cold to any other firm from Calexico to Brooklyn. In theory he must accept whatever wage the corporation offers after his first term of employment has expired, but actually this condition has been moderated by personal relations between the player and the front office and by the improvement of the average player's intelligence. Nowadays he can "bargain" and the club is unlikely to whisper him out as a "radical" or "agitator" in unwritten collusion with the rest of the industry and set him adrift in the Carolinas or Dakotas or the Yankee hamlets with his glove, shoes and intimate professional lingerie all in a paper grocery bag.

Baseball is waning, notwithstanding the furor of the current season in the American League and the strong theatrical power of the Brooklyn club. Young college men good enough to hold jobs with the lower minors, are apathetic toward the pay and the uncertain prospects offered by leagues which collapse in mid-season. Some even reject major league invitations or take brief whirls and, when sold down the river, go back home to resume life before too much time is lost. The food and lodgings in the minors are not enticing even to the kind of player who formerly couldn't resist the glamorous life of the Western League or Three-Eye or the Sally with train-rides, free, and nothing to do but play ball. The amateur game once crowded the Monday sport pages with week-end results and mid-week "challenges" and a team with "suits" was a cut above a team without and always specified "siuts" in its defi, wisely accompanied by 50 cents for the assistant sport editor, lest it got swept off the desk and lost. This traffic has vanished and with it a source of income which I trust the Guild has taken measures to replace. The cost of putting a dozen players on the field in "suits" is more than $1,000.

The yellow-dog clause forbade a worker in industry to join a union or to authorize any one but himself to bargain for him, failing which he would be blacklisted throughout the industry. This was held to be a scheme of Satan, but instead of abolishing it the Wagner Act simply put the worker in the same bondage to the union. Baseball earlier bound a man for life but reduced the term to ten years in response to shrill agitation by the bleeding hearts of the press coop, including me. Now the player can demand his unconditional release after ten years continuously in the majors and sell himself on the roof to whomsoever if any.

The statesman would obliterate this fine-print are in trickry business, however. For it is the cap-sheaf, the tap-root and the foundation stone of the CIO and the American Federation of Labor.

In the wee hours of the morning when all the tournament players are asleep and dreaming of grand slams, the cleaning staff gets busy on the floor of the tournament room. I wonder whether they find all the tricks that were dropped there during the day.

It's a cinch that lots of tricks get dropped even by the experts. For example there was the famous grand slam played in the national tournament of 1948 by Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta.

Mrs. Wagar's jump to four spades on the South hand usually shows a far stronger hand. Her partner, John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia, thought that she had the usual strong hand and decided that there would be tricks to burn at a grand slam contract. There weren't.

West opened a low trump, and Mrs. Wagar won in her own hand. With seven diamonds out, there was no way for the suit to provide more than three discards. That would be enough to take care of one club and two hearts—but declarer would still have a losing heart.

All this went through Mrs. Wagar's mind in about one second flat. Then she led the queen of hearts from her hand.

It wasn't a true finesse, of course. If West had covered with the king of hearts South would have been right back where she started. But West had to decide on a course of action in a split second. He played low, hoping that declarer would not stake the grand slam on a finesse at the second trick.

West's play dropped a very heavy trick on the floor, since the grand slam depended on it. The queen of hearts held the trick, and now there were several different ways to make 13 tricks.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-3-2, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond 4, Clubs 9-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. This is not a slam try, but merely an indication that you prefer game at spades to game at no-trump. There is greater safety in your strong six-card major suit, especially in view of your singleton.

Today's Question

The bidding has been the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond 4, Clubs K-6-3. What do you do?

Answer Tomorrow

Do You Remember

Received a most interesting letter from Myron Teller. He wrote it on the Romer & Tremper Steamboat Co. letterhead of which he was treasurer. In those days when the old line was in action they certainly went in for original letterheads. The pilot's wheel is there, on either side of which is a 'throw-away' sheet of the schedule of the Albany, Newburgh & Troy Lines and the New York Lines. The Jacob H. Tremper and the Milton Martin were with the Albany, Newburgh and Troy lines and they made all landings according to this letterhead. The James W. Baldwin, and the William F. Romer were steamers of the New York Line. "Connecting at Rondout with the Ulster and Delaware R.R. for all Catskill Mt. Points." At the time, Jacob H. Tremper, was president of the line, and B. Morss Tremper was the vice president. But you have to see this letter-head to appreciate how they condensed all this information into an interesting and nautical design. I wonder if anyone made collections of old local letterheads. I bet that would be an interesting hobby.

In one of my recent items I wrote George B. Merritt & Co. had their store one door north of St. John's Church, on Wall street." This was taken from advertisement in the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal of Thursday, April 22, 1886. Mr. Teller says that he recalls up to the time the St. John's Church was moved to Albany avenue, Merritt's store (was burned) later taken over by Cohen Brothers, now Flanagans, as Mr. Teller designed the new front and other alterations after the fire. After that store, the second store belonged to Dodges Candy and Ice Cream firm. Then came T. D. Lewis's photography gallery and then came Noah Wolven's Dry Goods Store which was operated after he died. Then came St. John's Church. Mr. Teller's information is usually accurate. I leave this in the hands of my readers, as personally I do not remember, and took the item from the old newspaper advertisement. Of course, an old photograph of Wall street postal card, of perhaps St. John's Church may answer this question. Would be glad to hear from my readers.

For instance from that same newspaper I quote a J. S. Payntar advertisement. They give their address as 32 Wall street, but as I understand Wall street numbers were switched around. I think Mr. Bernstein once explained it to me. Mr. Payntar at the time was moving into his Wall street store on the coming May first. He said he had a complete line of harness, trunks, satchels, summer horse clothing, lap robes, etc., which he would sell at bottom cash prices. He also says: "I shall continue as before to keep my branch store, Hasbrouck avenue, Rondout, well stocked, and sell cheaper than the cheapest ... Important ... Remember, I have four first class harness makers employed manufacturing my own harness, and not offering inferior factory work to the public." I wonder what he would think of modern mass production methods. They were craftsmen in those days.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN IN BRIEF

THE FARMER NEEDS THE TOWNSEND. Seventy-five years ago two-thirds of all our people lived on farms and made their living through Agricultural pursuits. Today only about one-third of the population depends upon tilling the soil for a livelihood and the number needed to produce the foodstuffs of the Nation is diminishing rapidly. When the Farming element of the Country was predominant, Industry in America was in Swaddling clothes, and people did not have to depend solely upon a pay-check for their livelihoods. But two-thirds of the working people today do depend on it, and they therefore are not the free and independent spirits they were a generation ago. And they will never be free again as long as there is a surplus of employable men and women seeking jobs. The Farmer will suffer the same fate as the working-man since he cannot set the price on what he has to sell but must take what is offered by those who control prices. The only way to remedy this is to bring about conditions wherein the cash demand for Farm products equals the source of supply. They need an adequate Market for their produce. To bring this about they need to organize, which is difficult since Farmers live remote lives in that distance separates them. But The Townsend Plan in action would solve the Farmer's problem. There are some 16 million unemployables in the Country at all times and they are to be found in every community in about the same proportion. If this group were receiving a monthly Annuity, as proposed under The Townsend Plan, which they must spend every 30 days for goods and services, the Farmer would have a steady Market for his products and he would always be assured a fair price for his crops. SO FARMERS, GET BEHIND THE TOWNSEND PLAN. JOIN KINGSTON TOWNSEND CLUB NO. 1, meeting the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays, monthly, in Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry St. For further information call Mrs. Mildred Stoller, 5672-W.

POOR STEPMOTHER

A bride-to-be writes: "My mother is not living. About ten years ago my father remarried. This marriage has never seemed to cause any complications until this moment of my planning for my wedding. Suddenly my mother's people feel that the invitations should not include my stepmother's name. I thought if your own mother was not living it was all right. Please tell us."

Your mother's family are quite wrong and by the world in general their attitude would be given very little sympathy. In fact their behavior is unfair to you and cruel to your stepmother. Your invitation should read:

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jones request the honor of your presence at the marriage of his daughter Mary

Tips on Trains

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm fifteen and going on a train trip for two days and two nights. Am I supposed to tip the porter every time he does something for me or wait until I get off the train?

Answer: Tip when you get off the train.

Step-Grandmother's Name

Dear Mrs. Post: What should the children be told to call a step-grandmother?

Answer: Whatever the grandmother herself prefers—so long as it is not her first name alone—whether this be "Grannie" or Aunt Mary or whatever.

Real or Costume Jewelry?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to wear real jewelry with sports clothes? Someone tells me that real jewelry is correct any time but not costume jewelry. If so, why?

Answer: You may wear with sports clothes any real jewelry that you wear habitually especially that which is utilitarian. But it would be in very bad taste to wear costume jewelry which is worn only for effect.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN IN BRIEF

THE FARMER NEEDS THE TOWNSEND. Seventy-five years ago two-thirds of all our people lived on farms and made their living through Agricultural pursuits. Today only about one-third of the population depends upon tilling the soil for a livelihood and the number needed to produce the foodstuffs of the Nation is diminishing rapidly. When the Farming element of the Country was predominant, Industry in America was in Swaddling clothes, and people did not have to depend solely upon a pay-check for their livelihoods. But two-thirds of the working people today do depend on it, and they therefore are not the free and independent spirits they were a generation ago. And they will never be free again as long as there is a surplus of employable men and women seeking jobs. The Farmer will suffer the same fate as the working-man since he cannot set the price on what he has to sell but must take what is offered by those who control prices. The only way to remedy this is to bring about conditions wherein the cash demand for Farm products equals the source of supply. They need an adequate Market for their produce. To bring this about they need to organize, which is difficult since Farmers live remote lives in that distance separates them. But The Townsend Plan in action would solve the Farmer's problem. There are some 16 million unemployables in the Country at all times and they are to be found in every community in about the same proportion. If this group were receiving a monthly Annuity, as proposed under The Townsend Plan, which they must spend every 30 days for goods and services, the Farmer would have a steady Market for his products and he would always be assured a fair price for his crops. SO FARMERS, GET BEHIND THE TOWNSEND PLAN. JOIN KINGSTON TOWNSEND CLUB NO. 1, meeting the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays, monthly, in Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry St. For further information call Mrs. Mildred Steller, 5672-W.

Four Persons Die By Gun and Knife

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Four persons died by gun and knife today in a quarrel among relatives and neighbors.

All the victims were Negroes.

The two women were badly butchered with a razor. The sister's male friend was shot and mutilated with a razor.

Police said the slayer was Carron Luchie, 28.

His victims were:

Mrs. Ella Ellem, 43, his sister who lived with him.

Elizabeth Kibblen, 24, Luchie's girl friend.

Charles Crump, 47, who police said was a neighbor and friend of the sister.

Police said the slayings in South Jamaica, Queens, grew out of an argument over two issues: the sister's objections to the presence of the girl friend whom Luchie took to his home at 1 a. m. (EST); and financing the purchase of a new car.

After the slayings, police said, Luchie went to the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Luchie, 50, and at gunpoint forced her to accompany him back to his home.

There he made her look at the three bodies, and threatened to kill her and himself. The mother ran out of the house, took a taxicab home and notified another daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Burwell, who called police.

Before police were able to break into Luchie's locked home, they heard a shot. They found Luchie dead with a bullet wound in his head. The gun he used was reported stolen from a policeman.

Four Persons Die By Gun and Knife

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Four persons died by gun and knife today in a quarrel among relatives and neighbors.

Police said a drink-crazed laborer killed his sister, his girl friend and a man friend of the sister, and then shot himself to death.

All the victims were Negroes.

The two women were badly butchered with a razor. The sister's male friend was shot and mutilated with a razor.

Police said the slayer was Carron Luchie, 28.

His victims were:

Mrs. Ella Ellem, 43, his sister who lived with him.

Elizabeth Kibblen, 24, Luchie's girl friend.

Charles Crump, 47, who police said was a neighbor and friend of the sister.

Police said the slayings in South Jamaica, Queens, grew out of an argument over two issues: the sister's objections to the presence of the girl friend whom Luchie took to his home at 1 a. m. (EST); and financing the purchase of a new car.

After the slayings, police said, Luchie went to the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Luchie, 50, and at gunpoint forced her to accompany him back to his home.

There he made her look at the three bodies, and threatened to kill her and himself. The mother ran out of the house, took a taxicab home and notified another daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Burwell, who called police.

Before police were able to break into Luchie's locked home, they heard a shot. They found Luchie dead with a bullet wound in his head. The gun he used was reported stolen from a policeman.

KAA All Stars Rout Hudson, 11-3, for District 4 Little League Crown

Ashdown Raps Homer; Ernie Madison Hurls Three-Hitter; in Newburgh Next

Nearly 2,000 fans saw the Kingston AA Little League All Stars combine power hitting and brilliant pitching to crush the Hudson Elks All Stars, 11 to 3, in the District 4 finals, Thursday at St. Mary's Field.

Coach Walt Black's hard-hitting small fry changed the script from their first outing and piled up an early lead that Ernie Madison, bespectacled right hander, guarded carefully with a stunning three-hit performance. He struck out seven.

The victory sends the KAA Little Leaguers to the sectional playoffs in Newburgh next Thursday evening, Aug. 9, against the winner of the District 3 (Poughkeepsie) tournament.

The contest in Newburgh will start at 5:45 p. m., according to a notice from Wesley F. "Bo" Gill, who is the district tournament chairman.

Ashdown Explodes

Ronnie Ashdown, the brilliant young catcher of the Yankees, blazed a "4 for 4" trail for Kingston, while Bill Cragan rammed a double and two singles and Seymour Semilof came up with two hits.

Kingston exploded quickly for four runs in the first inning off Bob Turk, a chunky right hander.

Nick Kearney, the pint-sized third sacker who has been the scourge of rival pitchers, drew a walk to open the game. Bill Cragan lined a double off the left center fence. The first of Ronnie Ashdown's four hits chased Kearney and Cragan across the plate and Duke Semilof singled Ashdown to second. Both runners moved up a notch on a wild pitch. Turk's second wild pitch allowed Ashdown to score and Semilof counted the fourth run on Tony Amato's infield out.

It took even less time for three additional runs in the second. Kearney walked, Cragan singled and Ronnie Ashdown blasted a homer over the left field fence. The drive hugged the foul line all the way and went out of the park just inside the foul pole.

Madison Superb

Madison had pitched 2 2/3 innings of hitless ball when Hudson broke through for two runs in the third. John Hughes beat out an infield hit and the decision by the first base umpire, Harry Finger, of Hudson, stirred up a long rhubarb. Hughes went to second on a throw into center by Ashdown, stole third and came home on a wild pitch. Madison walked the next two batters and John Burke drove in the second run with a single to right.

Just to make sure that Madison would have easy sailing in the bottom of the sixth, the KAA's completed their batting chores with three runs in the last inning.

Nick Kearney slammed a ground single to center. After Bill Cragan hit (through) the same spot, Ronnie Ashdown doubled to center, scoring Kearney and Semilof hit to left driving in Cragan and Ashdown.

Madison retired the side in order in the sixth, thanks to a couple of spectacular fielding plays by Ronnie Ashdown and Nickie Kearney. Ashdown swooped up a dribbler between the mound and first base to nip a runner at first and Kearney, favorite of the gallery, made a brilliant stab of a hot grounder near third to out the final runner by an eyelash at first.

The sectional tournament drawing in Newburgh is set up so that Kingston would have to play three times if they reach the finals, but Coach Walt Black said today that Tony Turck would be available twice.

Perpetual Motion

Timmins, Ont. (AP) — Northern Ontario's closest approach to perpetual motion crosses a highway between here and Schumacher. It's a huge aerial tramway leading into Hollinger mine and stretching three miles back over rolling, wooded country. For the last 24 years it has handled one of the largest sand-moving jobs in North America. It operates 24 hours a day, six days a week. The tramway so far has brought almost 20,000,000 tons of sand from a pit to the mine. The sand is used to replace rock removed from the mine so the walls won't collapse on workers.

Scottish Pence Sets World Mark

Westbury, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Scottish Pence improves with age.

The six-year-old pacing star from the Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky., a so-so in harness racing until last season, captured the $50,000 Nassau two-mile pace for the second straight year last night at Roosevelt Raceway.

Furthermore, he cracked the world record, stepping the route in a brilliant 4:13 2/5, compared with 4:16 4/5, set in 1949 by Grattan McKlyo.

The bay son of Scotland-Millie Worthy, obtained by the Castleton Farm of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep for a reported $10,000, now has boosted his earnings to $130,479.

Scottish Pence has had a meteoric rise to the harness heights. Winner of only about $11,000 in his first three years of the sulky campaigns, the horse boomed his bank roll up an additional $73,387 last year with 28 victories in 32 starts.

The race that made him, said his driver, Wayne (Curley) Smart of Delaware, Ohio, was one in which he was beaten by White Mountain Boy. He finished fifth.

Showed Courage

White Mountain Boy set a Roosevelt Raceway mile track record of 2:00 3/5 in the race, and everyone said Scottish Pence was stepping out of his class.

Scottish Pence had won seven in a row, previously, but against ordinary horses in most cases.

"That race against White Mountain Boy convinced me," Smart added.

Last year in a time trial at Lexington, Scottish Pence was clocked in 1:57 4/5 for a mile, the fastest in six years.

Last night Smart took the Castleton racer to the front at the start but yielded the lead to Dudley Hanover in the backstretch the second time around the oval.

Dudley held it for one lap. Then Smart gave Scottish Pence the word again and the smooth striding pacer went on to win by six lengths. Dudley Hanover was second, three-quarters of a length in front of his stablemate, Highland Ellen.

The Gloversville Glovers invade the ballpark of the last-place Rome Colonels tonight in an all-out bid to bounce the Oneonta Red Sox from the top of the Canadian-American League standings.

The Glovers edged into sole possession of second place last night by defeating the fifth-spot Kingston Colonials, 6-5, as Rome upset the Pittsfield Electrics, 9-3. Gloversville and Pittsfield had been tied for second place.

Oneonta also met defeat at home. First Baseman John Paul Jones smashed a homer with none on in the 11th for the Amsterdam Rugmakers to turn back the Sox, who now lead by one game.

At Gloversville, Kingston was riding along with a 5-1 edge into the last of the seventh when the Glovers exploded for three runs on two walks, two singles and a double. The home club came back with two more in the ninth to win. Third baseman Pete Caniglia's fly that scored leftfielder Sal Stampiglio was the decisive blow.

Rightfielder Bill O'Brien and leftfielder Sam Piacentino rapped homers for the losers.

Rome's leftfielder, Forrest Samson, led the attack against the invading Electrics with five hits in five trips—two homers and three singles, Ben Kiburis won his seventh game, against 11 losses. Al Leach was the loser.

St. Mary's Team Receives Medals, Plays in NY 13th

The team from St. Mary's parish that brought the Catholic Youth Organization midget baseball championship to Ulster county was honored at a dinner last night by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who presented a trophy and individuals furnished by the CYO.

Worf's restaurant on Abeel street was the scene of the event arranged by the mayor and Joe Kelly, alderman-at-large to fete the youngsters for bringing Kingston into the limelight in CYO sports activities.

St. Mary's, after eliminating all competition in the county, defeated Wappingers Falls CYO, 3-2, in the sectionals. The game was played at Kingston Municipal Stadium before a large assemblage of baseball fans.

The mayor congratulated the youngsters on their victory and expressed the hope that they would be successful in their bid for further CYO laurels when they play in the semi-finals in the metropolitan district on Monday, August 13.

As he handed the team trophy to Captain Jimmy DeCicco, and the individual CYO medals to the rest of the team, Mayor Newkirk said, "Cherish these awards, they are something that cannot be bought, but won only through earnest athletic effort and good clean sportsmanship."

He complimented the adults who helped coach the youngsters, four of whom were at the banquet, Leo Schupp, county director of the CYO; Dom Leonardo, Henry Houghtaling and Charles Diers.

Response to the mayor's talk was delivered by Richard Amato, 13, (the average age for the team), who expressed appreciation for the testimonial banquet and the CYO medals.

Most of the little champions reside in the 7th Ward, and practice at Block Park, where they gathered prior to the dinner and went to the neighborhood restaurant dressed in jerseys of green and white, St. Mary's colors.

Three Bunt Plays And Long Fly Defeat Locals

Piacentino, O'Brien Crack Home Runs

Never be surprised at the things that happen to a baseball club in a real slump. Things will always bob up to heap misery upon misery.

Riding a six-game losing streak, the Colonials teed off early and often in Gloversville last night to rack up a 5-1 edge over the Glovers in the first three innings.

This looked like the end of the victory drouth with Dick Ostrander, the recent acquisition to the pitching staff, hurling beautifully.

Bill O'Brien snapped out of a long batting slump with a second inning homer and Big Sam Piacentino, demoted to seventh place in the batting order, slammed a 350-foot blast over the left center field fence with Scotty Tortoriello aboard in the third for the 5-1 bulge.

Bunts Wreck Locals

But Ostrander wavered in the seventh and was yanked before he could retire a batter. Charlie Borden checked the Glovers' rally with three runs but came a cropper himself in the bottom of the ninth when a series of well-placed bunts and a long fly with the bases loaded produced the winning run with two outs. The final score: 6 to 5.

How about that! A ball club riding into second place in a pennant chase comes up with two runs in the bottom of the ninth to beat a squad that is trying desperately to nail down its first triumph in seven starts. And on a series of bunt plays.

The victory elevated Manager Al Barillari's Glovers into second place, a half length ahead of the Pittsfield Electrics, while Kingston sloughed off to only a half game margin over the oncoming Rome Colonels.

The situation could be even more desperate by Saturday midnight, because the locals face two nights in Amsterdam and, if Kingston is to win fourth place for the Shaughnessy playoff, the Rugmakers are the team to beat.

Charlie Ayers and Bobby Kunze will be available for the Amsterdam series. Borden pitched hitless ball for 2 1/3 frames last night but the crazy sequence of bunts in the ninth inning ruined the game. Three men tried bunts and each one landed safely via fielder's choice or an error of omission.

Bill O'Brien had a single in addition to the homer and the other five safeties were scattered among different players.

The Colonials return home on Sunday to open a four-day stand. Buck Etchison's Rome Colonels, with two former Colonial favorites—Joe Niro and Lou Kramberg—in the lineup are the Sunday and Monday attractions at the stadium.

Bowling Meeting

The Pioneer Women's Bowling League will hold an organizational meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 8, at 8 p. m., at the Ferraro Bowlodrome. All interested bowlers are invited to attend.

Member-Guest

The first annual member-guest golf tournament will be held at Twaalfskill Golf Club on Saturday. Thirty tandems will tee off in the 18-hole best-ball handicap tournament.

KAA All Stars Rout Hudson, 11-3, for District 4 Little League Crown

Ashdown Raps Homer; Ernie Madison Hurls Three-Hitter; in Newburgh Next

Nearly 2,000 fans saw the Kingston AA Little League All Stars combine power hitting and brilliant pitching to crush the Hudson Elks All Stars, 11 to 3, in the District 4 finals, Thursday at St. Mary's Field.

Coach Walt Black's hard-hitting small fry changed the script from their first outing and piled up an early lead that Ernie Madison, bespectacled right hander, guarded carefully with a stunning three-hit performance. He struck out seven.

The victory sends the KAA Little Leaguers to the sectional playoffs in Newburgh next Thursday evening, Aug. 9, against the winner of the District 3 (Poughkeepsie) tournament.

The contest in Newburgh will start at 5:45 p. m., according to a notice from Wesley F. "Bo" Gill, who is the district tournament chairman.

Ashdown Explodes

Ronnie Ashdown, the brilliant young catcher of the Yankees, blazed a "4 for 4" trail for Kingston, while Bill Cragan rammed a double and two singles and Seymour Semilof came up with two hits.

Kingston exploded quickly for four runs in the first inning off Bob Turk, a chunky right hander.

Nick Kearney, the pint-sized third sacker who has been the scourge of rival pitchers, drew a walk to open the game. Bill Cragan lined a double off the left center fence. The first of Ronnie Ashdown's four hits chased Kearney and Cragan across the plate and Duke Semilof singled Ashdown to second. Both runners moved up a notch on a wild pitch. Turk's second wild pitch allowed Ashdown to score and Semilof counted the fourth run on Tony Amato's infield out.

It took even less time for three additional runs in the second. Kearney walked, Cragan singled and Ronnie Ashdown blasted a homer over the left field fence. The drive hugged the foul line all the way and went out of the park just inside the foul pole.

Madison Superb

Madison had pitched 2 2/3 innings of hitless ball when Hudson broke through for two runs in the third. John Hughes beat out an infield hit and the decision by the first base umpire, Harry Finger, of Hudson, stirred up a long rhubarb. Hughes went to second on a throw into center by Ashdown, stole third and came home on a wild pitch. Madison walked the next two batters and John Burke drove in the second run with a single to right.

Just to make sure that Madison would have easy sailing in the bottom of the sixth, the KAA's completed their batting chores with three runs in the last inning.

Nick Kearney slammed a ground single to center. After Bill Cragan hit (through) the same spot, Ronnie Ashdown doubled to center, scoring Kearney and Semilof hit to left driving in Cragan and Ashdown.

Madison retired the side in order in the sixth, thanks to a couple of spectacular fielding plays by Ronnie Ashdown and Nickie Kearney. Ashdown swooped up a dribbler between the mound and first base to nip a runner at first and Kearney, favorite of the gallery, made a brilliant stab of a hot grounder near third to out the final runner by an eyelash at first.

The sectional tournament drawing in Newburgh is set up so that Kingston would have to play three times if they reach the finals, but Coach Walt Black said today that Tony Turck would be available twice.

The victory elevated Manager Al Barillari's Glovers into second place, a half length ahead of the Pittsfield Electrics, while Kingston sloughed off to only a half game margin over the oncoming Rome Colonels.

The situation could be even more desperate by Saturday midnight, because the locals face two nights in Amsterdam and, if Kingston is to win fourth place for the Shaughnessy playoff, the Rugmakers are the team to beat.

Charlie Ayers and Bobby Kunze will be available for the Amsterdam series. Borden pitched hitless ball for 2 1/3 frames last night but the crazy sequence of bunts in the ninth inning ruined the game. Three men tried bunts and each one landed safely via fielder's choice or an error of omission.

Bill O'Brien had a single in addition to the homer and the other five safeties were scattered among different players.

Manager Barillari yanked starter Oakie Henderson in the first inning and Jesse Barrow slammed the door in the Colonial faces after the third frame.

The Colonials return home on Sunday to open a four-day stand. Buck Etchison's Rome Colonels, with two former Colonial favorites—Joe Niro and Lou Kramberg—in the lineup are the Sunday and Monday attractions at the stadium.

St. Mary's Team Receives Medals, Plays in NY 13th

The team from St. Mary's parish that brought the Catholic Youth Organization midget baseball championship to Ulster county was honored at a dinner last night by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who presented a trophy and individuals furnished by the CYO.

Worf's restaurant on Abeel street was the scene of the event arranged by the mayor and Joe Kelly, alderman-at-large to fete the youngsters for bringing Kingston into the limelight in CYO sports activities.

St. Mary's, after eliminating all competition in the county, defeated Wappingers Falls CYO, 3-2, in the sectionals. The game was played at Kingston Municipal Stadium before a large assemblage of baseball fans.

The mayor congratulated the youngsters on their victory and expressed the hope that they would be successful in their bid for further CYO laurels when they play in the semi-finals in the metropolitan district on Monday, August 13.

As he handed the team trophy to Captain Jimmy DeCicco, and the individual CYO medals to the rest of the team, Mayor Newkirk said, "Cherish these awards, they are something that cannot be bought, but won only through earnest athletic effort and good clean sportsmanship."

He complimented the adults who helped coach the youngsters, four of whom were at the banquet, Leo Schupp, county director of the CYO; Dom Leonardo, Henry Houghtaling and Charles Diers.

Response to the mayor's talk was delivered by Richard Amato, 13, (the average age for the team), who expressed appreciation for the testimonial banquet and the CYO medals.

Most of the little champions reside in the 7th Ward, and practice at Block Park, where they gathered prior to the dinner and went to the neighborhood restaurant dressed in jerseys of green and white, St. Mary's colors.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Charlie Maxwell, Red Sox—Hit pinch homer with bases loaded to nail down Boston's second game 11-6 win over St. Louis after first game 12-1 romp.

Pitching — Bob Cain, Tigers—Saved shutout win for Hal White against Yankees, 6-0, by striking out side in seventh inning with bases loaded and 2-0 on the batter. Then he retired Yank in order in eighth and ninth in sensational relief job.

Chez Emile Rally in Last Inning Shades Wiltwyck Motors, 4 to 3

Vital Victory Virtually Cinches Flag for Winners

Norton's Squeeze Bunt Scores Deciding Run

Chez Emile virtually clinched the 1951 City Baseball League pennant with a dramatic seventh-inning uprising that produced three runs and a stunning 4 to 3 victory over Wiltwyck Motors in Thursday's showdown contest at the Athletic Field.

Trailing 3-1, the Chezzies suddenly came to life against an old nemesis—Lefty Don McClelland—and pushed across three runs with only one out.

The victory gave Chez Emile a game and a half edge over the Motormen, with a record of nine wins and one defeat. Wiltwycks trail by two in the vital lost column.

Two remaining Chez Emile games are against Ferraro's Bowlodrome next Tuesday and Boulevard Gulf (and Bill Tierney) a week from Monday. A split in the two would assure them of the pennant.

Beat Nemesis

McClelland, a fast balling southpaw who fanned seven Chezzies in succession in a spectacular relief stint earlier in the season, held them at bay for six innings, despite ten walks.

Then came the seventh, Benjamin walked and moved to second on Bob Slover's single. Sonny Barnes sent Benjamin across with a single and Slover went to third. After Boolukos fanned, Bud Swarthout walked to load the sacks.

Squeeze Play Works

The big break of the game occurred on the next play. Glaser hit a hard smash to Augue Passante whose throw to the plate had Slover beat by yards but Harry Kite dropped the ball, permitting Slover to score. With the bases loaded and one down, Joe Norton worked a perfect squeeze bunt and Barnes raced home with the most important run scored in the City League this season.

Veteran Bud Swarthout tamed the explosive Wiltwyck bats after the third inning. He gave up only five hits, walked only one and fanned four.

Messinger's Memos:

The loyal fans were treated to a knock-down brawl in which rhubarbs were frequent. The spectators let go for the first time this season. Three double plays by Chezzies took Swarthout off the hot seat and their last inning rally gave him a hard earned victory. His record now equals that of Bill Tierney of Boulevards, with four wins and one setback. McClelland left 15 runners stranded, but had it in the clutch until that potential DP ball was wrecked at the plate. This is one for Ripley: Wiltwycks had only three assists and all were by the pitcher. George Glaser handled the reins for Chezzies in the absence of Manager Joe Hoffman who was helping the KAA Little Leaguers at St. Mary's Field. There will be a meeting of managers and officials tonight at 7:30 at the city hall court room. President Joe Kelly requests a full attendance.

Unknown Pro Rips Tam O'Shanter

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—Little-known John Barnum, owning a back-nine Tam O'Shanter score of 29, today led a well-jumbled field into the second round of the $15,000 All-American pro golf tourney.

Barnum, 39-year-old 220-pounder, yesterday swiped the All-American spotlight from police-guarded Lloyd Mangrum with a sizzling 35-29—64 round, eight under par, for a three-stroke lead in the quest for a $2,250 top prize. Deadlocked for the runner-up spot were Jimmy Demaret and youthful Fred Hawkins, each posting 67's.

Minnesota born Barnum zoomed over the back nine yesterday one stroke better than the previous course mark of 30, set by the great Byron Nelson in 1945.

In all, 36 shooters bettered Tam's 36-36—72 par yesterday. Among them was defending champion Bobby Locke, who was one of 17 pros scoring 71's.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Since the last two yearly appearances of the Old Capital Motors Legion junior baseball team in the district finals at Hawkins Stadium in Albany have created rhubarbs, it appears that a change of venue is in order.

Tommy Maines, Andy Murphy, Jr., and Legion officials are faced with these alternate proposals:

1. Demand that the district finals be transferred to some other city.

2. Play the game in the spirit in which it is intended and always believe that, more than often, you are likely to get a rooking on the road. It's an old baseball maxim that applies to any classification of baseball. Human nature is that way.

3. Discontinue participation in the annual tournament.

Without being facetious, it would appear that the first alternate is the solution to the dilemma. The Old Caps honestly feel they are being taken for a ride every time they play in Albany. Their walking off the field with only one out remaining last Sunday is not playing the game to the hilt. But on the other hand, it is understandable when you realize that for two years running incidents and rhubarbs have cropped up in every Kingston game. The local contingent simply got fed up and walked off the field.

Legion department officials should examine the conduct of the tournament and exercise caution and care in the selection of competent, unbiased officials.

Nobody wants to see the local Legion team discontinued simply because the district finals take place in Albany every year. There must be some other solution. On the other hand, it is psychologically impossible to whip a bunch of kids into the proper mental pitch for a tournament if they feel beforehand that they are going to get robbed every time a close play bobs up.

What made the Albany shenanigans more galling for the Kingston contingent was the repeated reference of the plate umpire to Walter Judd, star Albany pitcher, as "Walter" all afternoon. Judd is a brilliant young hurler in his own right and his one-hit, 11-strikeout performance backed up his press clippings. He certainly needed no "assist" from the umpire in any shape or manner.

However, the umpire's constant reference to "Walter" only served to irritate the Kingston contingent. And when the same arbiter overruled a working mate on a bang-bang play at first base, the Kingston players and officials could no longer contain themselves. They did the most instinctive, if not the most sporting, thing.

Whoever the umpire was, he has much to learn about impartiality, tact and detachment, particularly where young and eager baseball players are concerned.

Meanwhile, Kingston officials have announced that in all future tournaments (which means they'll continue play, of course) they will demand that umpires from areas other than those represented by the competing teams be used.

Dick Conners, 4th district chairman, who attended the game in his official capacity, refused comment after the contest. But, if we know Conners, he's a square shooter and Mr. "Rhubarb" Umpire has officiated his last stint for this season.

One Legion official summed it up rather succinctly:

"You can't run a million dollar enterprise on a shoestring and expect it to work."

Robert W. Duffy, a veteran baseball fan of the city, crashed the Sporting News this week with a correction on the New York Giant winning streak in 1916. In the July 18 issue, Joe King wrote that the Giants won 24 straight games in 1916.

"Just for the record," corrected Mr. Duffy, "the figure should have been 26. I was at Ebbets Field the day the Giants tried for No. 27 and lost. John McGraw stormed off the field in a towering rage, accusing his players of an indifferent performance."

What did the guy want, 154 straight?

Urges Inquiry Into Pro Boxing

Olympia, Wash., Aug. 3 (AP)—Washington's attorney general, disturbed because Harry (Kid) Matthews apparently can't get a light-heavyweight title bout, is going to ask for a federal investigation of professional boxing.

Smith Troy, the attorney general, said yesterday he will ask U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath Tuesday to investigate activities of the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden to determine if there is basis for prosecution under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

McGrath will be here to participate in the 45th annual convention of the National Association of Attorney Generals.

Troy said Matthews, who is from Seattle, has not been able to get any matches outside of the Pacific northwest since he defeated Bob Murphy, an I.B.C. product.

"Despite the terrific lacing he took at the hands of Matthews, Murphy is now getting a chance at Joey Maxim's light-heavyweight title, while the I.B.C. simply pretends that Matthews doesn't exist," Troy charged.

He declared the ignoring of Matthews has focused attention of Pacific northwest fans on the I.B.C. to the point "where many feel that a Congressional investigation into professional boxing, similar to the one on organized baseball, should be held."

THE SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Talk about traffic jams. The American League standings is a jumbled mess of Sunday drivers with everybody honking the horn to go by. Only one game separates the speeding Yanks, Red Sox and Indians with eight weeks to go.

Unless somebody laps the field soon President Will Harridge had better start drafting plans for a playoff—or maybe a triple playoff.

It happened again yesterday. For the fifth time in 12 days the top three are only one game apart. Boston won two, Cleveland won one and the leading New York Yanks were shut out by Detroit, 6-0. Even Chicago picked up ground and now trails the Yanks by six games in fourth place.

Just the opposite in the National where Brooklyn opened up a 10-game gap on New York by bombing Pittsburgh, 10-5, while the Giants took it on the chin at Chicago, 6-3. The Phillies in third place, 15½ games out, edged Cincinnati, 7-5, and Boston and St. Louis played one of those "suspended games," called to let the Braves catch a train to Chicago, with Boston leading 7-3 in the last of the ninth. They'll complete it Sept. 13.

Probably the top thrill of a busy day was Bob Cain's remarkable relief job for Detroit at Yankee Stadium. The curveballing lefty saved Al White's shutout—and first win—with a brilliant performance.

Here's the picture: Detroit led 2-0 in the seventh. The Yanks had three men on, nobody out and the count was two balls, no strikes on pinch hitter Johnny Hopp. Then Cain replaced White.

Cain's first pitch was a ball. He followed with three curves to nip Hopp on a called third strike. Billy Martin and Gene Woodling fanned on sweeping hooks to retire the side. The slim lefty blew down the next six men in order in the eighth and ninth, striking out two more.

Heartened by Cain's job, the Tigers tore into Spec Shea for four in the eighth, three of them unearned because of errors by shortstop Martin. Art Schallock, the $50,000 purchase from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League was the starter and loser. White and Cain allowed only three hits.

Record Doby Homer

Larry Doby struck the longest homer seen at Washington since Babe Ruth hit one some 50 feet back of the centerfield fence and into a tree in 1923. Doby's cleared the 35-foot wall, 408 feet from the plate in dead center in the fifth inning with Dale Mitchell on base to help nail down a 5-2 triumph. Luke Easter's two-run triple in the first started loser Bob Porterfield on the way to trouble. Steve Gromek went all the way with a four-hitter.

Fleet Jimmy Busby hit a 10th inning homer for Chicago's 4-3 victory over Philadelphia. Big Gus Zernial smashed his 24th for the A's off winner Randy Gumpert in the fifth. The A's rallied for two in the ninth to send it into extra innings where reliefer Joe Coleman gave up the big hit to Busby.

Bob Rush got into the win column for the first time since June 19 by stopping the Giants with four hits. Randy Jackson's 13th homer with Hal Jeffcoat on base gave the Cubs an early lead off loser Sheldon Jones but it took a four-run rally in the seventh to win for Chicago.

Boston needed only two more outs to get a legal win at St. Louis when they stopped play with St. Louis batting, two on and one out in the last of the ninth. Both clubs agreed before the game to stop play at 11:15 p. m. (EST) so the Braves could catch a train for a day date in Chicago tomorrow. Bob Elliott hit two homers and a single, driving in four runs and Sid Gordon and Sam Jethroe also homered for the Braves.

The Phils hopped on Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raffensberger, who shut them out Wednesday, to come from behind with five in the eighth inning. Del Ennis' 13th homer assured the victory. Connie Ryan hit a home run for Cincy.

Youngstown, O.—Ross Collins of Monticello, Ark., won the National Lefthanders championship with a 5 and 4 victory over Kenneth Mast of Bluffton, O.

Chez Emile Rally in Last Inning Shades Wiltwyck Motors, 4 to 3

Vital Victory Virtually Cinches Flag for Winners

Norton's Squeeze Bunt Scores Deciding Run

Chez Emile virtually clinched the 1951 City Baseball League pennant with a dramatic seventh-inning uprising that produced three runs and a stunning 4 to 3 victory over Wiltwyck Motors in Thursday's showdown contest at the Athletic Field.

Trailing 3-1, the Chezzies suddenly came to life against an old nemesis—Lefty Don McClelland—and pushed across three runs with only one out.

The victory gave Chez Emile a game and a half edge over the Motormen, with a record of nine wins and one defeat. Wiltwycks trail by two in the vital lost column.

Two remaining Chez Emile games are against Ferraro's Bowlodrome next Tuesday and Boulevard Gulf (and Bill Tierney) a week from Monday. A split in the two would assure them of the pennant.

Beat Nemesis

McClelland, a fast balling southpaw who fanned seven Chezzies in succession in a spectacular relief stint earlier in the season, held them at bay for six innings, despite ten walks.

Then came the seventh, Benjamin walked and moved to second on Bob Slover's single. Sonny Barnes sent Benjamin across with a single and Slover went to third. After Boolukos fanned, Bud Swarthout walked to load the sacks.

Squeeze Play Works

The big break of the game occurred on the next play. Glaser hit a hard smash to Augue Passante whose throw to the plate had Slover beat by yards but Harry Kite dropped the ball, permitting Slover to score. With the bases loaded and one down, Joe Norton worked a perfect squeeze bunt and Barnes raced home with the most important run scored in the City League this season.

Veteran Bud Swarthout tamed the explosive Wiltwyck bats after the third inning. He gave up only five hits, walked only one and fanned four.

Messinger's Memos:

The loyal fans were treated to a knock-down brawl in which rhubarbs were frequent. The spectators let go for the first time this season. Three double plays by Chezzies took Swarthout off the hot seat and their last inning rally gave him a hard earned victory. His record now equals that of Bill Tierney of Boulevards, with four wins and one setback. McClelland left 15 runners stranded, but had it in the clutch until that potential DP ball was wrecked at the plate. This is one for Ripley: Wiltwycks had only three assists and all were by the pitcher. George Glaser handled the reins for Chezzies in the absence of Manager Joe Hoffman who was helping the KAA Little Leaguers at St. Mary's Field. There will be a meeting of managers and officials tonight at 7:30 at the city hall court room. President Joe Kelly requests a full attendance.

Unknown Pro Rips Tam O'Shanter

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—Little-known John Barnum, owning a back-nine Tam O'Shanter score of 29, today led a well-jumbled field into the second round of the $15,000 All-American pro golf tourney.

Barnum, 39-year-old 220-pounder, yesterday swiped the All-American spotlight from police-guarded Lloyd Mangrum with a sizzling 35-29—64 round, eight under par, for a three-stroke lead in the quest for a $2,250 top prize. Deadlocked for the runner-up spot were Jimmy Demaret and youthful Fred Hawkins, each posting 67's.

Minnesota born Barnum zoomed over the back nine yesterday one stroke better than the previous course mark of 30, set by the great Byron Nelson in 1945.

In all, 36 shooters bettered Tam's 36-36—72 par yesterday. Among them was defending champion Bobby Locke, who was one of 17 pros scoring 71's.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Since the last two yearly appearances of the Old Capital Motors Legion junior baseball team in the district finals at Hawkins Stadium in Albany have created rhubarbs, it appears that a change of venue is in order.

Tommy Maines, Andy Murphy, Jr., and Legion officials are faced with these alternate proposals:

1. Demand that the district finals be transferred to some other city.

2. Play the game in the spirit in which it is intended and always believe that, more than often, you are likely to get a rooking on the road. It's an old baseball maxim that applies to any classification of baseball. Human nature is that way.

3. Discontinue participation in the annual tournament.

Without being facetious, it would appear that the first alternate is the solution to the dilemma. The Old Caps honestly feel they are being taken for a ride every time they play in Albany. Their walking off the field with only one out remaining last Sunday is not playing the game to the hilt. But on the other hand, it is understandable when you realize that for two years running incidents and rhubarbs have cropped up in every Kingston game. The local contingent simply got fed up and walked off the field.

Legion department officials should examine the conduct of the tournament and exercise caution and care in the selection of competent, unbiased officials.

Nobody wants to see the local Legion team discontinued simply because the district finals take place in Albany every year. There must be some other solution. On the other hand, it is psychologically impossible to whip a bunch of kids into the proper mental pitch for a tournament if they feel beforehand that they are going to get robbed every time a close play bobs up.

What made the Albany shenanigans more galling for the Kingston contingent was the repeated reference of the plate umpire to Walter Judd, star Albany pitcher, as "Walter" all afternoon. Judd is a brilliant young hurler in his own right and his one-hit, 11-strikeout performance backed up his press clippings. He certainly needed no "assist" from the umpire in any shape or manner.

However, the umpire's constant reference to "Walter" only served to irritate the Kingston contingent. And when the same arbiter overruled a working mate on a bang-bang play at first base, the Kingston players and officials could no longer contain themselves. They did the most instinctive, if not the most sporting, thing.

Whoever the umpire was, he has much to learn about impartiality, tact and detachment, particularly where young and eager baseball players are concerned.

Meanwhile, Kingston officials have announced that in all future tournaments (which means they'll continue play, of cougse) they will demand that umpires from areas other than those represented by the competing teams be used.

Dick Conners, 4th district chairman, who attended the game in his official capacity, refused comment after the contest. But, if we know Conners, he's a square shooter and Mr. "Rhubarb" Umpire has officiated his last stint for this season.

One Legion official summed it up rather succinctly:

"You can't run a million dollar enterprise on a shoestring and expect it to work."

Robert W. Duffy, a veteran baseball fan of the city, crashed the Sporting News this week with a correction on the New York Giant winning streak in 1916. In the July 18 issue, Joe King wrote that the Giants won 24 straight games in 1916.

"Just for the record," corrected Mr. Duffy, "the figure should have been 26. I was at Ebbets Field the day the Giants tried for No. 27 and lost. John McGraw stormed off the field in a towering rage, accusing his players of an indifferent performance."

What did the guy want, 154 straight?

Urges Inquiry Into Pro Boxing

Olympia, Wash., Aug. 3 (AP)—Washington's attorney general, disturbed because Harry (Kid) Matthews apparently can't get a light-heavyweight title bout, is going to ask for a federal investigation of professional boxing.

Smith Troy, the attorney general, said yesterday he will ask U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath Tuesday to investigate activities of the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden to determine if there is basis for prosecution under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

McGrath will be here to participate in the 45th annual convention of the National Association of Attorney Generals.

Troy said Matthews, who is from Seattle, has not been able to get any matches outside of the Pacific northwest since he defeated Bob Murphy, an I.B.C. product.

"Despite the terrific lacing he took at the hands of Matthews, Murphy is now getting a chance at Joey Maxim's light-heavyweight title, while the I.B.C. simply pretends that Matthews doesn't exist," Troy charged.

He declared the ignoring of Matthews has focused attention of Pacific northwest fans on the I.B.C. to the point "where many feel that a Congressional investigation into professional boxing, similar to the one on organized baseball, should be held."

THE SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Talk about traffic jams. The American League standings is a jumbled mess of Sunday drivers with everybody honking the horn to go by. Only one game separates the speeding Yanks, Red Sox and Indians with eight weeks to go.

Unless somebody laps the field soon President Will Harridge had better start drafting plans for a playoff—or maybe a triple playoff.

It happened again yesterday. For the fifth time in 12 days the top three are only one game apart. Boston won two, Cleveland won one and the leading New York Yanks were shut out by Detroit, 6-0. Even Chicago picked up ground and now trails the Yanks by six games in fourth place.

Just the opposite in the National where Brooklyn opened up a 10-game gap on New York by bombing Pittsburgh, 10-5, while the Giants took it on the chin at Chicago, 6-3. The Phillies in third place, 15½ games out, edged Cincinnati, 7-5, and Boston and St. Louis played one of those "suspended games," called to let the Braves catch a train to Chicago, with Boston leading 7-3 in the last of the ninth. They'll complete it Sept. 13.

Probably the top thrill of a busy day was Bob Cain's remarkable relief job for Detroit at Yankee Stadium. The curveballing lefty saved Al White's shutout—and first win—with a brilliant performance.

Here's the picture: Detroit led 2-0 in the seventh. The Yanks had three men on, nobody out and the count was two balls, no strikes on pinch hitter Johnny Hopp. Then Cain replaced White.

Cain's first pitch was a ball. He followed with three curves to nip Hopp on a called third strike. Billy Martin and Gene Woodling fanned on sweeping hooks to retire the side. The slim lefty blew down the next six men in order in the eighth and ninth, striking out two more.

Heartened by Cain's job, the Tigers tore into Spec Shea for four in the eighth, three of them unearned because of errors by shortstop Martin. Art Schallock, the $50,000 purchase from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League was the starter and loser. White and Cain allowed only three hits.

Record Doby Homer

Larry Doby struck the longest homer seen at Washington since Babe Ruth hit one some 50 feet back of the centerfield fence and into a tree in 1923. Doby's cleared the 35-foot wall, 408 feet from the plate in dead center in the fifth inning with Dale Mitchell on base to help nail down a 5-2 triumph. Luke Easter's two-run triple in the first started loser Bob Porterfield on the way to trouble. Steve Gromek went all the way with a four-hitter.

Fleet Jimmy Busby hit a 10th inning homer for Chicago's 4-3 victory over Philadelphia. Big Gus Zernial smashed his 24th for the A's off winner Randy Gumpert in the fifth. The A's rallied for two in the ninth to send it into extra innings where reliefer Joe Coleman gave up the big hit to Busby.

Bob Rush got into the win column for the first time since June 19 by stopping the Giants with four hits. Randy Jackson's 13th homer with Hal Jeffcoat on base gave the Cubs an early lead off loser Sheldon Jones but it took a four-run rally in the seventh to win for Chicago.

Boston needed only two more outs to get a legal win at St. Louis when they stopped play with St. Louis batting, two on and one out in the last of the ninth. Both clubs agreed before the game to stop play at 11:15 p. m. (EST) so the Braves could catch a train for a day date in Chicago tomorrow. Bob Elliott hit two homers and a single, driving in four runs and Sid Gordon and Sam Jethroe also homered for the Braves.

The Phils hopped on Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raffensberger, who shut them out Wednesday, to come from behind with five in the eighth inning. Del Ennis' 13th homer assured the victory. Connie Ryan hit a home run for Cincy.

Youngstown, O.—Ross Collins of Monticello, Ark., won the National Lefthanders championship with a 5 and 4 victory over Kenneth Mast of Bluffton, O.

Committee Begins Work on Judges

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today starts digging into the fuss between President Truman and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) over two federal judgeship appointments in Chicago.

Douglas wants to block Senate confirmation of Mr. Truman's choices: Cornelius J. Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker. The senator had recommended two other men.

He and Mr. Truman agreed on a third: Joseph Sam Perry.

Perry will be heard first when the Judiciary subcommittee today (9 a. m. EST) begins considering the nominations.

The Perry hearing likely will be brief. The fireworks are expected to start when Harrington's name comes up, immediately afterwards.

Drucker's hearing is scheduled for tomorrow.

Senate tradition is on Douglas' side in the dispute. The Senate seldom confirms a nominee whom a senator from the state involved declares to be "personally obnoxious" to him.

Douglas has said he intends to apply this term to "the methods and manner by which the appointments were made" instead of to Harrington and Drucker themselves.

A Chicago woman, Mrs. Ida Vogelei, was scheduled to be the only witness against Perry.

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.), who talked with Mrs. Vogelei yesterday, told reporters she is dissatisfied with the way Perry, a Wheaton, Ill., lawyer, handled a property case for her.

Fifth Person Dies As Result of Crash

Wurtsboro, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—State police disclosed today a fifth fatality in the mass highway collision here July 8.

The fifth victim was Mrs. Celia Weinberg, 47, of Brooklyn.

Police said Mrs. Weinberg died July 24 in a New York city hospital but that no announcement was made of her death for fear it would endanger the recovery of her husband, Joseph, who also was injured in the accident involving a giant trailer truck and 11 automobiles.

Four other persons died in the accident and 16 were hurt.

Mrs. Weinberg's husband still is in a hospital here but he is expected to be released in a few days.

Says Danish Ship Took Cargo to Reds

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator O'Connor (D.-Md.) says a Danish-owned ship, Marie Skou, recently carried "many tons of strategic materials to Red China."

He said the vessel left Antwerp Belgium, April 28 and arrived at Whampoa, China, on June 10 with railroad rails, X-ray films, ignition coils, automobile parts, telephone cables, copper wire, boiler tubes, and new rubber tubes.

O'Conor, chairman of a Senate export controls subcommittee, made his disclosures in a statement yesterday.

He said Danish Embassy officials here told him the Marie Skou was chartered by a Czechoslovakian government-controlled agency prior to the May 18 United Nations resolution banning shipments to China.

O'Conor said he was advised the Danish government is considering whether there are any grounds for abrogating the charter contract.

O'Conor said his subcommittee's information indicates that "similar situations obtain involving shipments in vessels registered under other western flags."

Lausche Has Both

the presidential candidate for either party, or maybe both."

Eisenhower's name came up at Mr. Truman's meeting with reporters when a newsman asked the President how long he thought it would be necessary for the general to remain in his post as supreme commander in western Europe.

Mr. Truman replied that the reporter's guess was as good as his own. He went on to say that if the reporter was referring to 1952, he didn't think Eisenhower's duties would interfere with anything that might happen, if the general happened to be in that frame of mind.

Senator Moody (D.-Mich.), who flew out to Detroit last Saturday with the President, expressed doubt that Mr. Truman was boosting either Eisenhower or himself for 1952.

"I'm sure I don't know if President Truman will be a candidate and I doubt that even he knows," Moody, a former newspaperman, said.

Senator Martin (R.-Pa.), said last night he believes that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's early support of Eisenhower as a presidential candidate is hurting the general's chances. "It's unfair," Martin added.

He said, however, that while he admired Eisenhower greatly as an American and a soldier, "that doesn't mean I'm (politically) for him."

Southern Bolt . . .

to proposals by Sen. Carl Mundt (R.-S. D.) for a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. He said, however, that he thought such a proposal would involve too many difficulties to be ironed out in time for the 1952 elections.

He believed there should be a realignment of political forces, with conservative elements of both major parties forming one group and the so-called liberal elements of both parties in the other, he declared.

He said he was not in favor of setting up a third party, that he believed in the two-party system, without any splinter groups.

Committee Begins Work on Judges

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today starts digging into the fuss between President Truman and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) over two federal judgeship appointments in Chicago.

Douglas wants to block Senate confirmation of Mr. Truman's choices: Cornelius J. Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker. The senator had recommended two other men.

He and Mr. Truman agreed on a third: Joseph Sam Perry.

Perry will be heard first when the Judiciary subcommittee today (9 a. m. EST) begins considering the nominations.

The Perry hearing likely will be brief. The fireworks are expected to start when Harrington's name comes up, immediately afterwards.

Drucker's hearing is scheduled for tomorrow.

Senate tradition is on Douglas' side in the dispute. The Senate seldom confirms a nominee whom a senator from the state involved declares to be "personally obnoxious" to him.

Douglas has said he intends to apply this term to "the methods and manner by which the appointments were made" instead of to Harrington and Drucker themselves.

A Chicago woman, Mrs. Ida Vogelei, was scheduled to be the only witness against Perry.

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.), who talked with Mrs. Vogelei yesterday, told reporters she is dissatisfied with the way Perry, a Wheaton, Ill., lawyer, handled a property case for her.

Fifth Person Dies As Result of Crash

Wurtsboro, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—State police disclosed today a fifth fatality in the mass highway collision here July 8.

The fifth victim was Mrs. Celia Weinberg, 47, of Brooklyn.

Police said Mrs. Weinberg died July 24 in a New York city hospital but that no announcement was made of her death for fear it would endanger the recovery of her husband, Joseph, who also was injured in the accident involving a giant trailer truck and 11 automobiles.

Four other persons died in the accident and 16 were hurt.

Mrs. Weinberg's husband still is in a hospital here but he is expected to be released in a few days.

Says Danish Ship Took Cargo to Reds

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator O'Connor (D.-Md.) says a Danish-owned ship, Marie Skou, recently carried "many tons of strategic materials to Red China."

He said the vessel left Antwerp Belgium, April 28 and arrived at Whampoa, China, on June 10 with railroad rails, X-ray films, ignition coils, automobile parts, telephone cables, copper wire, boiler tubes, and new rubber tubes.

O'Conor, chairman of a Senate export controls subcommittee, made his disclosures in a statement yesterday.

He said Danish Embassy officials here told him the Marie Skou was chartered by a Czechoslovakian government-controlled agency prior to the May 18 United Nations resolution banning shipments to China.

O'Conor said he was advised the Danish government is considering whether there are any grounds for abrogating the charter contract.

O'Conor said his subcommittee's information indicates that "similar situations obtain involving shipments in vessels registered under other western flags."

Lausche Has Both

the presidential candidate for either party, or maybe both."

Eisenhower's name came up at Mr. Truman's meeting with reporters when a newsman asked the President how long he thought it would be necessary for the general to remain in his post as supreme commander in western Europe.

Mr. Truman replied that the reporter's guess was as good as his own. He went on to say that if the reporter was referring to 1952, he didn't think Eisenhower's duties would interfere with anything that might happen, if the general happened to be in that frame of mind.

Senator Moody (D.-Mich.), who flew out to Detroit last Saturday with the President, expressed doubt that Mr. Truman was boosting either Eisenhower or himself for 1952.

"I'm sure I don't know if President Truman will be a candidate and I doubt that even he knows," Moody, a former newspaperman, said.

Senator Martin (R.-Pa.), said last night he believes that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's early support of Eisenhower as a presidential candidate is hurting the general's chances. "It's unfair," Martin added.

He said, however, that while he admired Eisenhower greatly as an American and a soldier, "that doesn't mean I'm (politically) for him."

Southern Bolt . . .

to proposals by Sen. Carl Mundt (R.-S. D.) for a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. He said, however, that he thought such a proposal would involve too many difficulties to be ironed out in time for the 1952 elections.

He believed there should be a realignment of political forces, with conservative elements of both major parties forming one group and the so-called liberal elements of both parties in the other, he declared.

He said he was not in favor of setting up a third party, that he believed in the two-party system, without any splinter groups.

county and the state, it was stated.

Demands Are Made

When President Grady asked for comments from those present at the meeting a number of aroused taxpayers made demands that the town board be swept out of office at the coming election in November and the expression "fight fire with fire" was used by those who spoke.

The Taxpayers Association claims the town of Esopus town board has completely ignored the requests and suggestions of the taxpayers and the time has arrived to "take off the kid gloves," as one speaker stated.

Past meetings held by the Esopus taxpayers have been quiet and orderly but the meeting last night indicated a very aroused and indignant group of people had entered the battle. The association still claims to be unbiased in political affiliations but inasmuch as the town board has left them no choice, judging from the new assessments, they have expressed a willingness to carry the fight to the polls. It was stated that the association numbers over 500 and represents a voting strength of over 1,000.

President Grady pointed out that the association will be affiliated with no party politically but will strive to see that those nominated as candidates on any ticket this year do not receive the support or endorsement of the association unless they prove that they will place the taxpayer first and party affiliation second and will attempt to evaluate unfair assessment conditions that now exist in the township.

Effect on Real Estate

William Buddenhagen of Port Ewen, speaking from the floor, pointed out that due to the new assessments the town of Esopus now has a reputation of high taxation which has discouraged sale of real estate and retarded the progress of the communities of the entire township.

It is the intention of the association to review the new budget for next year and to cut expenses to the bone for that year by protesting any unnecessary expenditure of moneys.

The executive committee will meet on August 8 in order to formulate a plan to combat the new assessments.

It is the announced intention of the members of the association to file many formal protests on grievance day which will be held in Port Ewen on August 14 and Robert Stapleton of Ellenville, attorney for the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., will be on hand to assist members in filing these protests.

Rooney Says Public Entitled to Know

Washingon, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rep. Rooney (D.-N.Y.) says the public is entitled to know whether William O'Dwyer, ambassador to Mexico, transferred a $1,000,000 credit from Mexico City to New York.

Rooney declared in a House speech yesterday that O'Dwyer may have made such a transfer of government funds, adding that if this is the case, published reports that O'Dwyer's personal funds were involved will be shown to be totally unfounded.

O'Dwyer, in Mexico City, termed the funds transfer story a diabolical lie.

The New York Daily News, which originally carried the story said an investigator for the Senate Crime Committee had gone to Mexico City to investigate.

Rooney suggested that a quick check of New York bank records would have shown whether there was an such transfer of funds between the U. S. and Mexican governments, with O'Dwyer possibly involved only in his capacity as ambassador.

Suggests Having U. S. Group Visit Russian People

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Would the Kremlin let a Congressional delegation visit the Soviet Union "to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires" of the American people?

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) says he dares the Red leaders in Moscow to lift the Iron Curtain for such a group on such a mission.

And he proposes that Congress on the other hand invite Russia's high command—the 14 Politburo members—to the United States "so they could breathe the clean air of democracy and decide for themselves whether the American people want peace or war."

McMahon set forth the suggestions in a Senate speech late yesterday. He said he would like to see Congress approve resolutions endorsing both of the trips he proposed.

The Connecticut senator told a reported today he wants to discuss the matter with some of his colleagues before deciding whether to sponsor such legislation.

"I tossed out an idea," he said. "Let's wait a bit and see what happens."

McMahon indicated, however, that he would be perhaps the most surprised man in America if Stalin and company said come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too.

No Joke, Police Say

Birmingham, Aug. 3 (AP)—A jealous wife tipped police that her husband was a Birmingham loan company robber, then said it was all a joke. But by that time the joke had gone too far, Detective C. L. Pierce said last night—the husband had confessed to four holdups. Pierce said Forrest W. Ford, 34, a former loan company employe, admitted the holdups. The first tip came in a letter from Mrs. Mable Ford, who later told officers she had written it only as a joke, to "get even" with her husband. Mrs. Ford said she was angry with her husband because he paid too much attention to another woman at a party, then stayed away from home too long when they quarreled, Pierce said.

For Homes, Camps and Basement Rooms

THE HEATILATOR FIREPLACE circulates heat to every corner of the room and adjoining rooms. Saves the heat that ordinary fireplaces waste up the chimney. The scientifically designed heating chamber of the Heatilator Fireplace is concealed in the masonry where it draws cool air from floor level, heats it, and returns it to the room.

Heatilator installation eliminates the usual causes of smoking. It saves fuel bills during cool weather. Puts no limit on mantel design. Adds but little to the cost of the finished fireplace.

It is the intention of the association to review the new budget for next year and to cut expenses to the bone for that year by protesting any unnecessary expenditure of moneys.

The executive committee will meet on August 8 in order to formulate a plan to combat the new assessments.

It is the announced intention of the members of the association to file many formal protests on grievance day which will be held in Port Ewen on August 14 and Robert Stapleton of Ellenville, attorney for the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., will be on hand to assist members in filing these protests.

Rooney Says Public Entitled to Know

Washingon, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rep. Rooney (D.-N.Y.) says the public is entitled to know whether William O'Dwyer, ambassador to Mexico, transferred a $1,000,000 credit from Mexico City to New York.

Rooney declared in a House speech yesterday that O'Dwyer may have made such a transfer of government funds, adding that if this is the case, published reports that O'Dwyer's personal funds were involved will be shown to be totally unfounded.

O'Dwyer, in Mexico City, termed the funds transfer story a diabolical lie.

The New York Daily News, which originally carried the story said an investigator for the Senate Crime Committee had gone to Mexico City to investigate.

Rooney suggested that a quick check of New York bank records would have shown whether there was an such transfer of funds between the U. S. and Mexican goverments, with O'Dwyer possibly involved only in his capacity as ambassador.

Suggests Having U. S. Group Visit Russian People

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Would the Kremlin let a Congressional delegation visit the Soviet Union "to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires" of the American people?

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) says he dares the Red leaders in Moscow to lift the Iron Curtain for such a group on such a mission.

And he proposes that Congress on the other hand invite Russia's high command—the 14 Politburo members—to the United States "so they could breathe the clean air of democracy and decide for themselves whether the American people want peace or war."

McMahon set forth the suggestions in a Senate speech late yesterday. He said he would like to see Congress approve resolutions endorsing both of the trips he proposed.

The Connecticut senator told a reported today he wants to discuss the matter with some of his colleagues before deciding whether to sponsor such legislation.

"I tossed out an idea," he said. "Let's wait a bit and see what happens."

McMahon indicated, however, that he would be perhaps the most surprised man in America if Stalin and company said come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too.

No Joke, Police Say

Birmingham, Aug. 3 (AP)—A jealous wife tipped police that her husband was a Birmingham loan company robber, then said it was all a joke. But by that time the joke had gone too far, Detective C. L. Pierce said last night—the husband had confessed to four holdups. Pierce said Forrest W. Ford, 34, a former loan company employe, admitted the holdups. The first tip came in a letter from Mrs. Mable Ford, who later told officers she had written it only as a joke, to "get even" with her husband. Mrs. Ford said she was angry with her husband because he paid too much attention to another woman at a party, then stayed away from home too long when they quarreled, Pierce said.

FIREPLACE

For Homes, Camps and Basement Rooms
THE HEATILATOR FIREPLACE circulates heat to every corner of the room and adjoining rooms. Saves the heat that ordinary fireplaces waste up the chimney. The scientifically designed heating chamber of the Heatilator Fireplace is concealed in the masonry where it draws cool air from floor level, heats it, and returns it to the room.
Heatilator installation eliminates the usual causes of smoking. It saves fuel bills during cool weather. Puts no limit on mantel design. Adds but little to the cost of the finished fireplace.
See the Heatilator Fireplace in our display room, or phone for illustrated folder and low prices.

A safety lock holds the LIFT-O-MATIC at body level, reducing the strain on the hydraulic system.
The LIFT-O-MATIC is easily closed because of it's weight and is held securely locked by two automatic catches.
The LIFT-O-MATIC is easily installed on most pickups with express type bodies. The LIFT-O-MATIC weighs only 275 pounds.
